THIS COLUMN, two days since, mentioned a twelve million dollar bond issue paying 6½ per cent. interest, constituting a first mortgage on William Randolph Hearst's five California newspapers and five of his magazines. These properties earned a net profit of six million dollars last year, and the profit is increasing year by year.

This writer, associated with management of the Hearst newspapers for twenty-six years, knowing the stability of the Hearst organization, has purchased $200,000 of these bonds of Herbert Fleischhacker, of San Francisco, and advises purchase of the bonds by those desiring a perfectly safe investment at 6½ per cent.

THE BONDS are in the hands of Messrs. Halsey, Stuart & Co., of Chicago and New York, and the Anglo-London Paris Company, of which Herbert Fleischbacker is the head in San Francisco.

These companies have been requested to set aside a limited number of bonds to be bought by employes of the Hearst organization and by individual investors among readers of the Hearst newspapers.

These bonds may be purchased outright of the firms mentioned or of any banker or broker, or, if preferred, they may be purchased on the partial payment plan through Halsey, Stuart & Co., of New York and Chicago.

MRS. SARAH BOSWORTH BRADWAY, old-fashioned New England lady, celebrates her 106th birthday with forty grandchildren, great grandchildren and great-great-grandchildren to keep her company.

Her father was a soldier in the American Revolution. She has never been more than twelve miles away from Eastford, Ct., which, unlike Los Angeles and some other places, is smaller now than it was seventy-five years ago.

ONLY twelve miles from her own doorstep in all her life, Mrs. Bradway, in her 106 years, has traveled around the sun more than FIFTY-NINE THOUSAND MILLION miles—to say nothing of the inconceivable distance through which the sun has dragged our earth as it flies through space.

Staying at home on this planet is like sitting still in a railroad train. You travel as you sit.

THE SENATE accepts Mr. Mellon's proposal to cut taxes 25 per cent. on incomes that are earned. That seems reasonable. The owner of an oil well or a coal mine, enjoying himself idly in Europe, is allowed to deduct "depletion" from his income tax because his oil well or mine is wearing out, becoming less valuable. Why shouldn't a doctor or farmer or merchant charge "depletion" against his body, brain and nervous force? They are wearing out faster than the other man's mine or oil well. And what's more, the man may

FORGERY CHARGED BY BANKER

Beverly Harris Declares "Confession" Letter Shown by Wife Is a Fraud

New York, May 1.—Beverly D. Harris, former New York banker, today struck back at his beautiful young wife, Eleanor Elaine Lee Harris, who yesterday made public a letter Harris was alleged to have written to "another woman" admitting he had slandered her.

"I denounce it unqualifiedly as forgery," Harris declared in a written statement.

"There will be no step left untaken to expose and punish this latest fraud at the proper time."

When her husband, Beverly D. Harris, former vice-president of the National City Bank, recently won his annulment suit after years of litigation in an effort to separate himself legally from his beautiful wife, he left Elaine's name soiled with the worst sort of stigmas.

Then Elaine got busy again. Now she claims to have found a letter written by Harris to another woman admitting that his accusations against his wife were untrue.

DEMANDS NEW TRIAL.

"Now we'll see," said Elaine, or words to that effect.

She took a photostatic copy of the letter, which a handwriting expert had declared to be in Harris' own script, to her lawyer and made the first move for a brand new trial of the annulment suit.

The letter is full of these things that any woman likes to hear from the man who loves her, plus a few imprudent remarks about the wife and the suit.

It was written, Mrs. Harris contends, on the last day of the trial, penned on Hotel stationery and

FALLS 4 STORIES TO DEATH IN HIS SLEEP

James J. Curley, 26 years old, of No. 26 Dartmouth street, Back Bay, fell to his death today from the fourth floor of his home while walking in his sleep.

Curley walked out of the open window onto the coping running along the front of the house. Apparently he started to walk the coping when it gave way and he crashed to the street forty feet below.

He was sent to the City Hospital suffering from multiple injuries and many broken bones. He died shortly after arrival.

DEATH TOLL IN BIG STORM NOW 95

Atlanta, Ga., May 1 (A.P.).—With ninety-five persons known to be dead, more than a score missing, approximately 500 injured, some perhaps fatally, the Southeast today set about measures of relief in regions stricken by the worst high tension storms in its history. Hundreds have been left homeless.

Tornadoes, descending with devastating violence upon widely separated sections, caused damage estimated at $10,000,000 in the seven States of North and South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, Virginia, Louisiana and Arkansas. The death toll was as follows: South Carolina, 66; Georgia, 13; Alabama, 11; North Carolina, 3; Louisiana, 1; Arkansas, 1.

Entire communities were destroyed in some sections and not a place in the storm's path escaped wholly unscathed. In South Carolina, where the tornadoes were most disastrous, Horrell Hill, twelve miles from Col-

7 DEAD OF SLEEPING SICKNESS

Mortality Shows Big Gain in Boston, Though Number of Cases Decrease

Watch out, sleeping sickness is increasing in violence in Boston.

Seven deaths in the month of April were recorded today by the city health department.

The total number of cases shows a slight drop.

In 1922 there were 47 cases reported with 24 deaths; in 1923 35 cases, with the same number of deaths. From January 1, this year to date, there has been 17 cases reported, with 13 deaths.

The death of five persons were reported in one week. All were hospital cases.

Health authorities have been quietly investigating the death of each victim, to ascertain if a wrong diagnosis might have been made.

LONG BEACH MAYOR INDICTED FOR THEFT

Mineola, N. Y., May 1.—William H. Reynolds, mayor of Long Beach, and John Gracy, treasurer of that city, were indicted today for grand larceny. It is alleged that Samuel T. Rossoff and Michael Dollard, contractors, were paid $19,360 by the city of Long Beach to cover a deficiency on a bond issue of $484,000, which they bought at Mayor Reynold's request and sold to a Manhattan firm at 96.

The mayor referred to the charges as "political indictments."

WORCESTER GIVEN $1,000,000 CAR ORDER

Worcester, May 1.—The Osgood Bradley Car Company has been given an order for 125 all steel cars for the Pittsburgh Railway, which operates the trolley system in Pittsburgh. The contract totals nearly $1,000,000.

This order means a continuance of activity at the big works at the Summit for several months.

HURWITZ RESIGNS TO AID J. WESTON ALLEN

GASOLINE PRICE NOT JUSTIFIED

Necessaries Commission Reports Dealers Have Deliberately Boosted Cost

There was no justifiable reason for the recent increases in the price of gasoline in Massachusetts, the Commission on the Necessaries of Life declared in a report today.

The Commission made a six weeks' investigation of gasoline price increases. It found:

That the prices were raised when the stocks of crude oil were greater than at the beginning of any other year.

That there is a margin of nearly ten cents a gallon between the price of gasoline at the refinery and the price to the consumer.

That the financial turn-over in handling gasoline is at a high rate, and some retailers are enjoying a margin as wide as seven or eight cents a gallon.

That a large number of garages and filling stations receive a secret discount of two cents a gallon given by the wholesale distributors from the publicly quoted "tank-wagon price" of gasoline.

The commission intimates that a solution of the problem may be found in action similar to that taken at the time of the alleged sugar shortage, when consumers "applied their own remedy and quickly brought the situation under control."

ELIMINATE FREE SERVICE.

The commission suggests elimination of so-called free services by filling stations; introduction of automatic self-service pumps, and creation of large wholesale and retail stations in connection with the established lines of business having railroad side-track facilities which would eliminate much of the expense of the tank wagon business.

In regard to secret documents, the report states:

"When no such special prices are publicly announced, discrimination must certainly exist."

The only relation between the rises in price of gasoline in January, from 17 cents to 22½ cents, or about 30 per cent., and the law of supply and demand, according to the report, was that those engaged in the oil industry thought "that the prospective demand for gasoline in 1924 would be great enough to allow them to advance their prices at that time."

HUGE STOCK ON HAND.

On January 1, 1924, the commission states, the stocks of crude oil reported in this country were greater than at the beginning of any other year, totalling 366,312,000 barrels of 42 gallons.

These figures were furnished by Federal bureaus for a time when it

TOWLEY K. O.'D IN SECOND BY CARPENTIER

Vienna, May 1 (A.P.).—Georges Carpentier, the French light heavyweight, knocked out Arthur Towley of England in the second round of their bout today.

The Englishman was no match for the French idol who appeared to be in the best of shape.

Carpentier's victory over the English boxer practically assures him of two or three fights in the United States. He is reported to have signed contracts to fight Tommy Gibbons with a tentative clause in the contract calling for a victory over Towley before the contract would stand.

Manager Deschamps has been in touch with Tex Rickard arranging a series of fights for the French boxer who is attempting to stage a comeback after his defeat by Battling Siki.

VICTIM'S MISSING CAP FOUND

Police Regard Toque as Valuable Clew; Some Suspects Held for Further Quizzing

Providence, R. I., May 1.—Fifteen suspects—men who have been connected with crimes involving young girls—have been rounded up and questioned by Providence police in connection with the murder of Clementine Cosmo, nine-year-old Providence school girl.

The grilling of these men and finding of the toque of the murdered girl near the grave where body was uncovered last Sun- marked today's principal deve- ments in the case.

For several days detectives attached to the Providence police department have been scouring Bertillon records, searching records of men in and about Providence who have been connected or suspected of crimes involving children.

As fast as the records of these men are uncovered, police inspectors have been rounding them up. A number of the men taken have already convinced the police they had no part in the abduction and slaying of the East Providence girl, but several have been held for further examination.

TOQUE VALUABLE CLEW.

The finding of the toque worn by the murdered girl is regarded as an important clew.

When the child's body was taken from the crude grave where it had been placed by the assailant, it was found fully dressed with the exception of the toque or cap.

More than a dozen clews the police believed would lead to the [illegible]

ing of the missing toque were run out. The dragging of Scotch Pond, four miles from the grave, was already under way and plans were on foot to drag the Blackstone River in Valley Falls when the toque was found.

The toque was discovered by a resident of Lincoln who was tramping through the woods about fifty yards from the grave.

FOUND NEAR GRAVE.

The garment was lying on the ground. It was torn along one side and gave evidence of having been pulled from the girl's head by the brush when she was carried through the woods.

For the first time, Chief Axon of the Lincoln police today had assistance in running down clews in the vicinity of the grave.

Two inspectors of the Providence police department have been assigned to duty in Lincoln and developments are expected there within the next few days.

Interest in the search for the slayer is still high. The total rewards offered for the slayer now amount to $2,200.

A clew given the police by two canoists who saw two men drop a package into the Blackstone River at Valley Falls came to naught today when it was learned the bundle contained a family of kitten which a citizen wished to dispose of.

ONE CLEW EXPLODED.

The finding of the toque caused police to lose interest in the clew furnished by Mrs. John Dolan of No. 57 Union street, Prospect Hill. Mrs. Dolan told of a strange young man driving up to her home and asking permission to place a basket of clothes in the basement of her home.

The basket was covered with a blood-stained cloth. A child's hat lay on top.

The stranger drove an automobile of the same make as the one used by the abductor of the Cosmo girl, and a short time after Mrs. Dolan ordered the man from her home he was seen walking along the edge of Scotch Pond, near the house, with Efforts at dragging the pond were abandoned when it was found that the last of the slain girl's articles of clothing had been accounted for.

Suitors Fight, One Killed as Girl Looks On

Chambersburg, Pa., May 1.—Samuel Shockey, who admits he killed his brother, Jacob, in the South Mountain, but who claims it was done in self-defense during a fight over a girl, faced a jury today.

The killing occurred while the girl watched the brothers fight.

When Jacob was killed, Samuel, according to his confession, covered the brother's body with leaves and then he and the girl sought refuge in a cabin in the mountain where he had been hiding as a fugitive on another charge.

SAYS WHEELER PROMISED TO 'FIX' PERMIT

Oil Man Declares the Montana Senator Was Told That He Would Get "a Big Slice"

Washington, May 1.—The special Senate committee investigating the indictment of Senator Wheeler in Montana was told today that Wheeler had promised when he came to Washington to "fix" the land permits in which his client, Gordon Campbell, was interested.

W. W. Rhea, a Colorado oil man, testified that he heard such an assurance given to Campbell in January, 1923, and that Campbell had told him Wheeler was to be paid "quite a big slice out of it."

Under a severe cross-examination, Rhea stuck to his story but said he first had made these statements within ten minutes after he had met Blair Coan, sent to Montana by Secretary Lockwood of the Republican national committee, although he did not know for what purpose Coan wanted the information.

"I believe sincerely that Elaine is a good woman and I respect and honor her loyalty to her absent sister Samuella.

"That was to be expected—but under the present circumstances it would serve no purpose to engage in any discussion of this distressing matter—even with you.

FROM "OTHER WOMAN."

The letter is enough of a confession to warrant a new trial, thought Elaine.

"I obtained the letter from the other woman myself," said Mrs. Harris. "I had learned of her existence last January. Then I sought her out. I was determined to find her. And, oh, they call her 'Elaine' too. Beverly has lavished expensive gifts on her. She has taken my place in his affections."

In his annulment suit Harris charges that at the time of his marriage to Elaine Lee she deceived him as to her age, birth, and past life.

She represented herself as a member of the old Southern Lee family, of steamboat fame, as a girl of splendid parentage and much refinement, he said.

OF OBSCURE FARM FOLK.

But instead, he found out afterwards that she was the daughter of obscure Mississippi farm folk, the habitue of certain restricted districts in Memphis and the inamorata of Eli Raynor, notorious Memphis gambler, the husband charged.

Elaine came back with the confession that Raynor was not her lover, but her own father, and that she had been born out of wedlock.

Eight persons, five of them children, were killed and more than a score injured when trapped in their crashing houses at Anderson. Nearly fifty houses were razed in the Riverside Mill village, near there, while numbers of dwellings in the city proper were demolished.

Today fifty members of the local American Legion Post, armed with rifles, were patrolling the stricken mill village area. Property damage in that section alone is placed at $1,500,000.

The village of Ficklen, Ga., near Augusta, virtually was wiped out, when the storm struck there, killing the postmaster, injuring many and destroying nearly every building.

KNUTSEN IN SEVERE CROSS-EXAMINATION

Washington, May 1.—Representative Harold Knutsen of Minnesota finished his direct testimony in Arlington County, Virginia Court, where he is under charges made as a result of his arrest with LeRoy M. Hull several weeks ago in a country road. His cross-examination by County Attorney Gloth was so severe that it was with difficulty that order was maintained in the courtroom.

Knutsen described his arrest and his incarceration in jail for the night without opportunity to procure bail or talk to friends, and denied that he had sought to bribe officers to secure release.

OFF TO FLORIDA ON 1,400 MILE HIKE ·

MRS. DORIS WILCOX AND FAMILY

Above, Mrs. Doris Wilcox, deserted wife of Chelsea who is going to live with her sister-in-law on a Marion county farm in Florida, and her children, Baby Walter and Louanna. Below is shown the carriage which broke down and temporarily held up the trip.

MOTHER BOUND TO WHEEL BABE 1,400 MILES

Journey Halted at Start, but She's Going to Resume Her Hike to Florida

Mrs. Doris Wilcox, who walked with her two little children a year and a half ago from Henderson, N. C., all the way to Chelsea, plans to take an even longer hike.

Today, tomorrow, some day in the near future, anyhow, Mrs. Wilcox, with Baby Walter Merrill Wilcox and Louanna Wilcox, will start for [illegible]nellon, Fla., to join her sister-in-l on a Marion County farm.

Dunnellon is all of 1,400 miles from here.

Pushing a dilapidated baby carriage, from the side of which hung a big sign emblazoned "Boston to Florida," and in which rode the two little ones, Mrs. Wilcox got as far on her journey as the corner of Commonwealth avenue and Dartmouth street when one of the wheels of the buggy came of.

BACK TO CHELSEA.

A policeman escorted the young mother and her children to the Back Bay station and later took them back to No. 19 Tremont street, Chelsea, in a flivver.

When Mrs. Wilcox hiked to Boston from North Carolina in September, 1922, she told of having been deserted three times by Jerome Wilcox, formerly a sailor in the navy. But she still loved him, she declared.

Wilcox at that time was said to be in Palatka, Fla. His wife says she does not know where he is at present, but she is quite certain he is "driving around somewhere in his own car."

The young woman—she is twenty-seven years old—insists that she will resume her hike to Florida just as soon as the weather settles.

"Nothing is going to stop me," the little mother of two declared. "I cannot make a living for my children here, my sister-in-law says we can have a home with her in the South. I haven't any money with which to pay railroad fares, and I am going to walk."

IN HIKER'S GARB.

The mother, in middy blouse, knickers and sandals, little Walter Merrill riding in state—Walter is two years old—and Louanna trotting along at mother's side, the turnout attracted attention in Chelsea streets, on the edge of Charlestown, across the bridge, through the West End and on the Common.

"Some of the people looked sympathetic," Mrs. Wilcox says, "but most of them assumed a 'wise' attitude, as if suspicious that I was advertising something.

"All I am advertising is that I'm a deserted wife and mother, and that I haven't been able to make both ends meet on the $10 I earned as an usher in a movie house.

"I paid $4 weekly for rent and I had $6 left for food and clothing for the three of us.

"Occasionally, I received $10 from my mother, Mrs. Isabelle Ayers of Boise Springs, Calif., but latterly that had not been coming and I was up against it and no mistake.

"We were living in with relatives, and — well, conditions had become unbearable.

"Then I received a letter from Mrs. Louis Coson, my sister-in-law, in Florida. 'Cheer up', she wrote, 'I've got a place here big enough for you and the little ones, so come on down'.

"That letter was like an answer to my prayers.

GASOLINE PRICE

was predicted there would be an oil shortage.

"Certain allegations which were made to the commission in regard to the sale of petroleum products seem to warrant a legal review; therefore these matters have been turned over to the Attorney-General for his information.

On the basis of last year's distribution, according to the commission, the combined stocks of crude oil and gasoline in storage were equal to about eight months' supply when the price advance took place in January.

The average consumption of gasoline by the 15,281,295 automobiles registered in the entire United States during 1923 was about 500 gallons, the report states.

DISRUPT FORECAST

"The automobile industry estimates a maximum output for 1924 of 3,500,000 cars, of which 2,000,000 are estimated to be replacements, making an estimated net increase in use by the end of 1924 of 1,500,000," the report continued.

"The strong stimulant applied by the automobile industry to sales by vigorously pushing the instalment plan of payment for cars will eventually be followed by a reaction.

"If this condition occurs, it will result in throwing out of line all forecasts in regard to the consumption of gasoline based on the number of automobiles registered."

TODAY

drop dead. The mine does not do that.

A MAN is accused of feeding germs of diseases, diphtheria, pneumonia, etc., to his wife. The fact that she did not die will encourage individuals who say there is no power in germs.

But faith cures must not be over joyful. The germ's power depends on the condition of the body. If you are in good condition, white corpuscles in your blood kill the disease germ. If your blood is weak, the disease germ kills you.

THOUSANDS have died of old age with all sorts of germs, including incipient cancers, inside of them. They had health enough to keep the diseases down. Others die in infancy killed by the same germs. Their blood is weak.

THAT doesn't mean that faith cures are worthless. The conquest of disease means health. Cheerfulness is an important part of health.

BARING, who confessed that he fed the poison and germs of disease to his wife is described as a "timid, nervous, weak individual."

Cowardice is dangerous—to itself and others. More murders have been committed through cowardice than any other cause. The undersized, timid, half nourished criminal shoots, not that he wants to kill, but because he is AFRAID.

MISS NEWEL, of Bedford Hills, has a preserve in which she keeps deer. Dogs broke into the preserve, killed and ate part of three valuable deer and are probably ill from eating too much fresh meat.

If they were allowed to spend their lives in the enclosure eating deer at their leisure, the dogs would all die of the mange. That incident in the news is recommended to the attention of rich men that leave fortunes to their sons. Those sons very often die of a moral and mental mange.

THE LABOR government of England has abolished all duties on automobiles, motorcycles, moving picture films and watches—and that, in spite of Great Britain's terrific debt.

The highly intellectual American republic is planning a tax on radio sets, which is about as intelligent as it would be to tax school books or new ideas. To allow twenty billion dollars worth of securities to go untaxed and put a tax on human ingenuity is foolish, to put it mildly.

AT A LONDON banquet our ambassador denied that the United States "is isolated." Forty-eight States dwelling together in real brotherhood, free trade among them all, any one of half a dozen rich enough to pay all the debts of the United States, cannot be called isolated.

The real isolation is in Europe, where no two of the States can get together, where all are separated by tariff walls and ancient hatreds.

This nation isn't isolated, and won't be if it knows enough to stay at home, mind its own business and allow the rest of the world to do the same.

MILLIONAIRE PLANT DESCRIBES HIS $500,000 "JOY JOURNEY"

GIRL TELLS DIFFERENT STORY

Former Follies Beauty Enumerates Injuries Which Led Her to Sue Rich Youth

New York, May 1.—Helene Jesmer's $500,000 suit against Philip Morgan Plant for injuries received when Plant's automobile was wrecked was expected to go to the jury today. Both Miss Jesmer and young Plant have told their stories.

Letters and telegrams passing between the former Greenwich Village Follies dancer and the young millionaire were introduced.

Miss Jesmer sobbed convulsively on the stand as she related the events of the ride that ended in robbing her of her good looks.

Asked what injuries she had sustained when Plant's car leaped from the road, the girl became hysterical. It was a moment before she sobbed:

HIDES MARRED FACE.

"Fracture of the skull—my right cheek forced in when the maxillary bones were broken"—

Even as she testified she covered that sunken portion of her one fair face with a little tan handkerchief, then—

"My nose was broken—I received contusions of the chest—

"My right ankle was so weakened that it frequently turned on me, and"—

Here the girl placed her hand on a knee.

I. Arthur Hilton, Plant's attorney, [illegible] cross-examination revealed con[illegible]nmate curiosity regarding her [illegible]evious career.

[illegible]ANCED IN MOVIE.

"When did you come to New York City?"

"Around July, 1920."

The same year, the date of accident, Plant took her to New Haven in his automobile with friends.

"Coming home I sat in the front seat next to Mr. Plant, who was driving"——

HAD ONE DRINK.

Comment made by her on one drink of liquor they had on the homeward journey, then—

"I don't know whether there was any singing—I talked to Mr. Plant. There was a windshield between the two seats"——

Plant had previously testified that windshield was down, while she insisted it was up—"cutting out the noise back there."

"Did you pay, or have to pay, since this accident any money to doctors?"

"Yes, there was a great deal paid. My mother knows the details."

Asked if she did not receive a check from Plant for $150 on March 1, 1921, she shook her head "No."

Continuing, the girl said:

"Mr. Plant telephoned me two or three times a day after the accident and wrote me constantly. Then one day he said his mother was sending him to Europe. He went away. He was different to me when he came back several months later—there was a distinct change."

SAYS HIS LOVE WANED.

Thomas J. O'Neill, her lawyer, questioned:

"Did he talk any more of loving you?"

"No."

Mr. O'Neill brought out that she didn't wish to sue for breach of promise, but for Plant's alleged negligence in permitting the accident.

William J. Flynn of the New York police force testified that he hurried to the scene of the accident and observed that the speedometer of the wrecked car had "jammed" at the speed of fifty-five miles an hour.

Plant was called to the stand to testify that the speedometer was in perfect condition.

Flynn then continued and said that after the accident he had approached Plant, who was hopping about on one foot. Plant besought the officer to "take care of Helene—my intended wife."

Plant again took the stand. He testified that he had known Miss Jesmer since the previous July, and that he had frequently taken her out in his car. He described the trip to and from New Haven on the day of the accident.

"Miss Jesmer, Edward Hersey, Chester Merehead and I started out. At Norwalk we left Hersey. We had a picnic lunch on the way without any drinks. Upon returning we picked up Hersey at Norwalk and two other friends, David Calhoun and Noland Hussey.

GOT DRINKS AT INN.

"At the request of the boys, I stopped at Cos Cob Inn, which they entered and returned with drinks. A little down the road they again asked me to halt and when I did so they drank more. There were drinks all around. I had one, and only one, because I cannot drink whiskey straight and the ginger-ale from the picnic lunch was sufficient for only one drink.

"Miss Jesmer was kneeling on the [illegible] facing the four boys. She was teaching them to sing, 'Snap Your Fingers at Care.' That interferred with my driving and I asked her to cut it out."

"Were you ever driving at more than twenty-five miles an hour during the trip?"

"No, decidedly not."

When asked what had been his actions upon seeing the approaching car, he said:

"I saw the car. Someone in the back seat shouted to look out. I slowed down to eighteen miles an hour. Just as the car neared us Miss Jesmer turned around and grabbed the wheel."

"How long did it take from that moment till you hit the tree?"

"Two seconds."

KIDDIES CHEER UP! CIRCUS IS COMING

Here is good news for the kiddies and the grown-ups. Boston will see a circus this year after all.

The Sells-Floto Circus will be here during the week of May 26. The circus grounds will be at Andrew Square adjoining the tunnel station of the Elevated.

C.W. Finney, advance man for the Sells-Floto Company, arrived at City Hall today and notified John M. Casey, chief of the licensing bureau, that he is ready to do business at the fifteen-acre lot in the South Boston district.

Finney says that his concern is not afraid to break in new circus grounds. He believes the site is admirable. He says the Elevated authorities have told him that they can handle the big crowd much better at Andrew square than they could at the old Huntington avenue grounds.

W. J. Conway of the Ringling Brothers Circus, has already cancelled his application for a license, stating that on account of the failure to secure a site, the show would omit Boston this year.

SAYS WIFE QUIT HIM TO WED STUDENT

New York, May 1.—Mrs. Jessie Margaret Duvollon, thirty-three years old, a lawyer, was arrested on the complaint of her husband, Andrew P. Duvollon, a clerk, who charged her with having deserted him shortly after their marriage in January, 1922, to become the wife of Alexander Brewster, Jr., a twenty-four-year-old student. She was charged with bigamy.

SOCIETY WOMAN FORGED CHECKS ON HUB STORES

The unusual case of a society woman turned check forger, while surrounded with all the luxuries and comforts of life and with unlimited funds of her own, reached a climax in Superior Court today.

The woman appeared in court, pleaded guilty to two indictments and was released on probation.

So quickly were the proceedings carried out that few persons in the courtroom became aware of the unusual case until after the woman had disappeared.

Two years ago this woman, wife of a prominent business man and Yale graduate, flooded the leading stores of Boston with worthless checks. She secured hundreds of dollars' worth of goods and for months the police were busy searching for her.

Fashionably attired and of evident breeding and refinement, the woman had little trouble in passing the checks. Seldom did she use the same name twice.

In the indictments she was charged with forging the names of Barbara Neal, Rosmond D. Prescott, Elizabeth W. Heywood, Helen M. Stiles, Frances Raymond, Carolyn Perry, Pauline Clarke, Charlotte S. Woods and many others.

When police finally set a trap for the woman and captured her, an amazing situation was brought to light.

It was found that her husband, now an invalid, is a prominent business man. He and his brother, with whom he is associated in business, both graduated from Yale. The wife is about forty-two years of age.

The worthless checks were passed unbeknown to the husband or other members of the family.

When the husband learned of his wife's action, he promptly made full restitution to the firms who had accepted the worthless checks. His wife was also placed under observation and it was discovered that she was suffering from a temporary mental affliction.

Following a thorough investigation of the case the probation officers recommended that the woman be released on probation.

Since passing the checks, the woman [illegible] fully recovered, although a watch is still kept on her [illegible]

PORTUGUESE AIRMEN HELD UP IN PERSIA

Lisbon, Portugal, May 1.—The Portuguese aviators, Captain Brito Paes and Lieutenant Sarmento Beiros, are reported to have been held up in Persia because their passports had not been visèd. Captain Paes and Lieutenant Beiros were last reported April 27 at Bagdad. Their destination is Macao, the Portuguese treaty port in China on the Canton River.

MAY DAY PASSES WITH BUT FEW OUTBREAKS

May Day, the recognized day for Socialist demonstrations, passed off comparatively quietly everywhere.

A bomb explosion took place in Paris during a meeting of the Paris branch of the Italian Fascisti and a woman was injured.

A few workers in Paris observed the day with a temporary strike.

Mounted police in Berlin broke up an attempted Communist demonstration.

In Tokio, 10,000 workers marched in the most orderly and picturesque May Day labor parade ever seen there.

In Madrid special police precautions were taken to prevent agitators from causing strikes.

Special police precautions were taken in New York with guards about banks, churches and homes of well-known rich men.

May Day in London passed quietly as a holiday.

In Athens, Communists assembled despite orders against it. They refused to disperse even when a fire hose was turned on them. The troops then fired in the air, causing a panic and a stampede.

At Lisbon, traffic over the city tramway services was considerably disorganized as the result of May Day celebrations.

May 1 passed almost unobserved in Rome, with all the shops open and work going on virtually as usual. The Russian delegation again hoisted the red flag which was removed some time ago when the populace objected.

ILLNESS HOLDS UP SHOOTING HEARING

Mrs. Mary McGuire, twenty-four years old, of No. 4 Price road, Allston, charged with being an accessory to the shooting of Reuben Robinson, 27-year-old salesman, of No. 11 Idlewild street, Allston, was before Judge Connelly in Brighton Court today. The case was continued until May 10, owing to the illness of Special Officer James Phillips.

Robinson, shot as he left an Allston restaurant, is still in St. Elizabeth's Hospital, while police are seeking his assailant.

MARRIED WOM[illegible] "SNAGS ON PROGRESS"

New York, May 1.—Married women working in factories were characterized as snags in industrial progress by 300 unwed factory girls, members of the national industrial assembly of the Y. W. C. A., in a report made today to the eighth annual convention of the Young Women's Christian Association.

The report said that girls who plead for shorter hours are told by employers that the establishments can get "plenty of married women to work for anything."

PROF. E. L. LARKIN IS CRITICALLY ILL

Los Angeles, Cal., May 1 (U.S.).—Penniless and practically alone, Professor Edgar Lucian Larkin, head of Mount Lowe Observatory and one of the most widely known astronomers of the country, is critically ill at a hospital here today. It is not believed he can survive an operation that he underwent.

"They took me through a capital operation when I was nearing 80," he complained. "Why could they [illegible] let me go on?"

KIDNAPED GIRL SOBS STORY OF ATTACK

Abductors Are Held in Heavy Bonds by Lawrence Judge After Her Recital

Lawrence, May 1.—"In some places these defendants would not have had a chance to get to the police station."

With this comment Judge Jeremiah J. Mahoney held for the Essex County Grand Jury the five men who kidnaped a seventeen-year-old Lawrence girl and imprisoned her in a lonely cabin in Pleasant Valley, where she was attacked by her own cousin.

The girl, Agatina Cavallaro of West Andover, had just given in frightened whispers a graphic account of her experience. During her recital she kept her face averted from Carmello Cavallaro, her suitor-cousin, and his four accomplices.

Carmello Cavallaro was held in $8,000 bonds and Sam Buffalo, Mario Tosto, Benjamin Gaetano and Joseph Cammarato in $5,000 each. None of them was able to furnish bonds.

TELLS HER STORY

The courtroom was filled to capacity long before court opened. Only three witnesses were called, Inspector Daniel Dwyer, the Cavallaro girl and her cousin, Josephine, who was with her when she as kidnaped.

There was a stir of interest when the girl stepped to the stand. She is slight, with large dark eyes that wore an expression of great fear. She spoke in tones which at times were almost inaudible.

The story of her eight hours of terror from the time she was taken by her captors until rescued by police was the same she told the police earlier in the day.

Agatina and Josephine were at work in the Ayer mill in South Union street, Lawrence, when they were lured from the building by a fake telephone message telling of the serious illness of Agatina's mother

THOUGHT MOTHER DYING.

"We thought mother was dying and we asked the foreman to let us go home," Agatina told the police.

"We were just outside the mill when five men surrounded us. One was my cousin, Carmello Cavallaro, who has long pestered me and wanted to be my sweetheart.

"Josephine was pushed to one side and I was dragged into a waiting automobile. One of the men held his hand over my mouth to keep me from screaming.

"They drove fast to Pleasant Valley to a small cottage, where I was carried from the automobile into the house. The other men then drove off and left me alone with my cousin.

"I never wanted attentions from my cousin. He is twenty-six years old and I am only seventeen. I knew he was going to do something desperate and I pleaded with him not to harm me.

SEEMED WILD.

"He seemed wild as he took hold of me."

The girl sobbed to the police as she told of the attack made by her relative.

"A little later," she continued, "my cousin grew remorseful. He declared he was going to kill himself. He drew a revolver from his pocket and said he would commit suicide.

"Then he changed his mind. He thrust the revolver into my hand and told me to kill him. I was afraid to touch the revolver and refused to do as he wished.

"He kept telling me how much he loved me and how he wanted me to be his wife. It was hours later, and I was so weak and frightened I thought I would die when two men came driving up to the cottage.

"One of them took my cousin to one side and I heard them talking about the police. A couple of minutes later a gang of policemen with their revolvers in their hands came into the cottage and arrested my cousin and the other two men and took us all to Lawrence."

IRISH REPUBLICANS DESTROY MUNITIONS

Belfast, May 1.—Apparently in fear of a Free State raid, Irish Republicans in the County Monaghan salient facing County Fermanagh where [illegible]ey are in considerable stren[illegible] dumped their arms and explosives in a field and destroyed them. The explosions were heard eight miles away.

The Killormer Barracks at Ballinasole, County Galway, were attacked and wrecked after a fusilade today. Record books and the guards' bicycles and clothing were removed, but the occupants of the barracks were not molested.

ADMITS PERJURY IN ACTION OVER ESTATE

Leon N. Horsey, charged with perjury, pleaded guilty in Suffolk Superior Court today. Sentence was postponed until June 2. Two years ago, it was charged, John Kowle was killed in an accident. Horsey, representing himself as the next of kin, petitioned to be appointed administrator of Kowle's estate. The petition was denied when it was learned Horsey was not the nearest relative.

AMAZING CROOK FACES TENTH PRISON TERM

College Man, Actor, Bible Student, Brokaw, Known in Boston, Again Arrested

Named by the New York police, "The most interesting crook in years" Frederick Brokaw, international swindler, college man, actor and Bible student, twice arrested and once sentenced in Boston, is under arrest in Washington, facing his tenth prison term.

With a lavish and gainful hand, Brokaw, only thirty-two years old, slight, light-haired and of unassuming demeanor, has spread his record in most American cities of any size.

Overseas he is as well-known, through his skilful methods of obtaining money by false pretence. Senators and Representatives, big business houses, shrewd moneyed men made gullible under his persusion—all have been his ready victims. But out of prison sentences totalling a full century, he has served but five years.

Brokaw was caught in New York, after swindling a Washington concern by representing himself to be the nephew of its Scotland representative, temporarily in need of funds.

Appropriately enough, Brokaw's experience as an actor has been in a company of "Putting It Over" and in a motion picture, "Secrets."

X-Ray Wizard Goes Under Knife for Fiftieth Time

Baltimore, May 1.—Dr. Frederick H. Baetjer, professor of roentgenology at John Hopkins Medical School and distinguished for his work with the X-ray, has submitted to his fiftieth operation to remove infections caused by burns from the powerful ray.

Four of Dr. Baetjer's fingers were amputated, due to burns, about fifteen years ago, and several years later when infection developed, the hand was saved by grafting skin from the abdomen.

The infection has necessitated operations at intervals since that time. Recently, however, the infections were found to be spreading and the fiftieth operation was performed. Dr. Baetjer probably will leave the hospital within ten days.

CABLE BRIEFS

Milan—The Italian Women's Committee today put a boycott upon Paris dress styles on the ground they are dangerous to morals.

Constantinople—A decree of general amnesty was proclaimed today.

Bucharest—A regular air service between Rumania and France is being established.

Madrid—General Primo Rivera, head of the directory, said today that Spain would never grant the demand of the Riff tribesmen in Morocco for absolute independence.

Seward—Snowslides struck the Alaska Railroad along the 114 miles of track across the neck of the Kenai Peninsula between here and Anchorage. Telegraph and telephone lines were paralyzed. One slide 1,500 feet long was reported. Two bridges were carried away.

FISHING VESSEL DRIVES ASHORE IN DENSE FOG

Gloucester Schooner Harmony Aground on Long Island; Crew Stays Aboard

The Gloucester fishing schooner Harmony drove ashore in a dense fog early today at Cape Rockaway, Long Island, N. Y., while bound into New York harbor with 5000 pounds of mackerel.

Capt. Percy Firth and the eighteen men composing the crew of the schooner, owned by the Gorton-Pew Fisheries of Gloucester, remained on board the craft in the expectancy that it will be pulled off.

According to word received from Capt. Firth, the vessel is in no danger. He missed channel buoys in the dense fog that blanketed the Atlantic seaboard early today and hit the Rockaway spit.

The Harmony was returning to New York markets after a mackerel seining trip off the Virginia Capes.

NEW YORK PHONE RATES UP 10 P. C.

New York, May 1.—Telephone rates in New York city will be increased ten per cent. under a temporary order signed today by Federal Judge Knox in proceedings brought by the New York Telephone Company to restrain the public service commission and the state attorney-general from enforcing the rates fixed some months ago by the commission.

ANTS LIKE THEIR LIQUOR; MALES HEN-PECKED!

Harvard Savant Proves It and Wins Medal From Academy of Scientists

Professor William Morton Wheeler, dean of the Bussey Museum, Harvard, discovered that ants like their liquor, are skillful grafters, have woman suffrage and are henpecked—this last, of course, meaning the males.

W. M. Wheeler.

Now he has been awarded the Elliott medal for 1922 by the American Academy of Sciences. The medal award is one of six made by the academy at the conclusion of its annual meeting in Washington. Four of the six medals awarded to scientific leaders went to foreign scientists.

Professor Wheeler knows more, perhaps, about ants than the ants themselves or than any human. In his studies of the ants he has traveled all over the world. The medal is awarded for his "Ants of the American Museum Congo Expedition," written in 1922.

Dr. Dashford, dean of Columbia University, is awarded the 1921 Elliott medal for his "Biography of Fishes."

Infants' Hospital Cabaret Tomorrow To Be Unique, Says Betty Alden

By BETTY ALDEN.

THE clever plans for the Infants' Hospital Cabaret are quite complete, and the Copley-Plaza will be the mecca for many members of the fashionable world tomorrow night.

The committee in charge, headed by Mrs. Homer B. Richardson, has made every attempt to have the affair distinctly "different." The ballroom of the Plaza has been transformed for the occasion into a huge ship, and a nautical atmosphere throughout will be the order of the evening.

Mrs. Henry S. Smith

Trigly-uniformed stewards, under the guidance of George C. Lee, Jr., will dispense tempting viands, and there will be a "ship's" postoffice, with Mrs. Dunbar Lockwood and Sherwood Rollins giving out surprise packages to all who have purchased them.

As usual, Mrs. Lydia Codman's far-famed fashion show will be an outstanding feature of the evening. Among the attractive young matrons taking part in this number are Mrs. Henry St. John Smith, Mrs. Charles F. Choate, 3rd, Mrs. Lothrop M Weld, Mrs Arthur Richmond, Mrs. David Sears, 2nd, Mrs. Theodore Frothingham, Jr., and Mrs. Eben S. Draper.

JUST now hardly a day goes by that the bride fails to come in for a generous share of society's attention.

At high noon today in Emmanuel Church the wedding of Miss Rosamond Johnson and Howland Seabury took place, the ceremonial one of the most important of the season.

Miss Georgna Wells came on from Gotham to attend her cousin as maid of honor, the bridesmaids group included the Misses Lena Turnbull, Penelope Curtis, Mabel Bremer and Elinor de W. Jackson, all of Boston, as well as the Misses Elizabeth Chisholm, Katherine Post and Josephine Porter of New York.

Lena Turnbull

There was a good-sized representation of Manhattan's fashionable world present at today's ceremonial, as the bride has many connections there.

there.

Following the ceremony, there was a wedding breakfast at the Commonwealth avenue home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Wolcott Howe Johnson, who was formerly Miss Fanny Betts of New York.

MARIAN FENNO, PEGGY PORTER

Miss Marian S. Fenno and Miss Peggy Porter will sell flowers and cigarettes at the Infants' Hospital Cabaret, which society folk are staging at the Copley-Plaza tomorrow night. (Photo by Bachrach)

A NUMBER of smart folk are interested in the costume reception being held today for members of the Copley Society and their friends.

Included on the reception committee for the affair, which takes place in the exhibition hall of the Rogers Building, are Mrs. George Peabody Gardner, Jr., Mrs. J. Templeman Coolidge, Mrs. Gaspar Bacon, Mrs. Henry Lyman, Mrs. Allan Forbes, Mrs. Henry G. Vaughan and Mrs. Henry Lowell Mason.

Society Notes

MRS. VALENTINE HOLLINGSWORTH of Marlboro street has arrived for a sojourn at Hot Springs.

Mrs. Clarence L. Hay, who spends much of her time on the North Shore, is returning to New York this week from her brief visit abroad.

Dr. John Warren of Beacon street is among the Boston sojourners at Hot Springs.

Mrs. Louis Chauvenet and her brother, Thomas Allen, recently arrived from Boston at the Red Lion Inn, Stockbridge.

Among the first North Shore arrivals of the season were Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Whitman of Hamilton, who spent most of the Winter cruising about in Southern waters aboard their yacht the "Altamaha."

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas P. Beal of Chestnut Hill will be members of the West Manchester colony for the coming season, where they will occupy the Mansfield cottage on Harbor street.

Mr. and Mrs. Amory S. Carhart (Isadora Bliss are opening their Tuxedo Park villa this week. They have just returned from travels abroad.

GIRL TOLD OF HER LOVE FOR BARING

Missing Teacher Expected He Would Be Divorced and Wed Her

White Plains, N. Y., May 1.—Miss Mildred E. Beam, missing "other woman" in the mysterious attempt to poison Mrs. Clarence O. Baring with disease germs, for which the latter's husband is held without bail, was not only deeply in love with Baring, but believed that he had been separated from his wife and expected to be divorced from her.

These first details of Baring's love affair with the pretty teacher of physical culture, much younger than his wife who is older than Baring, were revealed by Daniel Seaman of Irvington, N. J., brother-in-law of the girl, who announced that her family will retain counsel in her behalf.

Shortly after District Attorney Rowland announced he expected to be in communication with Miss Beam, Mrs. Baring, in White Plains, clenched her hands and cried:

"Oh, I hope they find her! I hope they find her!"

Today District Attorney Arthur Rowland of White Plains declared that he expected Miss Beam who disappeared a few days ago would voluntarily submit to an interview with him. Baring and his wife were said to have been quarrelling for many months over the girl.

Seaman stated.

"Baring told Mildred he was separated from his wife; that his wife was going to get a divorce.

"When Baring went to Europe a year ago, and his wife went too, he told my sister they were going over for a Paris divorce so that he would be free to marry Mildred. He didn't say he was going to Europe with his wife.

"Mildred loved him. She didn't dream how he had double-crossed her until she read about his arrest in the newspapers last Saturday.

"Now all w[illegible] want to do is to shield her and pro[illegible] her from any more of this."

HAD NE[illegible]K FLAT.

It bec[illegible]own that an apartment in [illegible] Fifty-fifth street between Fi[illegible]d Sixth avenues is tenanted by [illegible] "C. Barnes." This is the nam[illegible]ng admitted he used at the Willa[illegible] Parker Hospital where he got seven consignments of germs.

Deputy Sheriff Foley brought from a check room in the Grand Central Station Baring's golf bag, left there on last Friday. It was given out that in this golf bag was found a box of bichloride of mercury tablets.

While Mrs. Baring poured tea to an assemblage of friends in her Park avenue home, her young husband paced his cell in despair of bail.

BOMB SMOLDERS OVER RAID ON "DIPS"

District Attorney in Conference at Headquarters on Lax Police Work

Fumes of a bomb believed to be smoldering in the police department were sniffed at police headquarters today in connection with the raid on the Fenway Loan Company, Columbus avenue, that netted five alleged pickpockets.

There was an air of general uneasiness and expectancy in Pemberton square when District Attorney O'Brien, who engineered the raid by picked officers from outside the "dip squad," closeted himself today with Police Commissioner Wilson and Superintendent Crowley.

OFFICIALS SILENT.

Reporters seeking to discover the tenor of the meeting were greeted with silence. It is understood, however, that a breaking point has been reached in police affairs and something will snap somewhere along the line.

It is no secret that the commissioner and superintendent for some time have been dissatisfied with certain phases of policing in the Hub.

The aptitude of pickpockets in "getting away with it" has particularly aroused the ire of the police heads and the superintendent, in a letter inspired by the commissioner some weeks ago, hinted very strongly that "dips" were working "without any fear of being apprehended by the police."

This letter was sent to division commanders at Hanover street, City Hall avenue, Joy street, Lagrange street, East Dedham street, South Boston, Roxbury, Roxbury Crossing, the Back Bay and to the Bureau of Criminal Investigation.

ORDER INEFFECTIVE.

It ordered the men of these divisions to get the pickpockets. It is evident, however, that the letter has not had the effect for which it is intended else the district attorney would not have taken into his office the engineering of the Columbus avenue raid.

Neither is it a secret that the district attorney believes the regular police are lax in their work.

Recently he called upon the superintendent to organize a special squad of men, which the superintendent did.

In addition, the district attorney detailed detectives out of his own office. It is pointed out as significant that the special detail, unfamiliar with pickpocket work, trapped "five at a lick" where the regulars had been unable to get one.

Hoover Starts Probe of Shrinkage in Underwear

Washington, May 1.—The Department of Commerce today instituted a sweeping investigation into the shrinkage of underwear.

The effect of improper soap, laundrey machines, weighing, pressing and finishing, as well as the tension of knitting machines, will be studied by the experts, in an effort to reduce the shrinkage.

FROTHINGHAM WOULD CONSERVE HELIUM

Washington, May 1.—The House Military Affairs Committee today authorized Representative Louis A. Frothingham of Massachusetts to report a bill calling for the conservation of helium gas. Frothingham said:

"It is very important that the supply of helium gas, which exists chiefly in this country, should be conserved for the national defence and the future use of the government in peace as well as in war. Helium was is non-explosive, and consequently much safer than hydrogen."

HUNT FOR BERGDOLL ON GERMAN LINER

New York, May 1.—An all-night search of the new German liner Columbus, which docked in Brooklyn, failed to disclose Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, draft dodger, who was reported to have slipped aboard the vessel at the German port to return to the United States and surrender to Federal authorities. Army officers and a member of the courts-martial which sat at the trials of Bergdoll stood at the gangplank scrutinizing passengers as they disembarked.

Bergdoll's mother, who is in Philadelphia, said today she believed he was in Switzerland.

SIR LOUIS DAVIES DEAD IN CANADA

Ottawa, May 1.—Sir Louis Davies, chief justice for Canada, died early today after a short illness. He was 79 years old.

Since 1896, when he was appointed Minister of Marine, Sir Louis had been prominent in dominion and international politics. In 1918 he was appointed chief justice of Canada.

HINT COOLIDGE PARDON WILL BE UPSET

Believe President Exceeded His Authority in Freeing Saloon Keeper Grossman

Chicago, May 1.—A decision nullifying the pardon granted by President Coolidge to Philip Grossman, West Side saloonkeeper, last Christmas week, was reported today to be in preparation by Federal Judge Carpenter, who, with Judge Wilkerson and Judge Cliffe, held a hearing on January 3.

The Grossman pardon, in which it has been alleged that political influence was employed in getting the President's attention, has been added to the subjects on the Senate Daugherty Investigating Committee's calendar.

Grossman had not served a day of his sentence when the pardon came. The question involved, according to William Mulvey, who acted as friend of the court when the three judges sat on the case, was whether the President had power to pardon in cases of civil contempt. Mr. Mulvey declared the President had not.

The three judges have had the case under advisement since the hearing in January. Judge Carpenter has said that the question of civil contempt pardon was the only one raised. Today it was reported that he was preparing a decision on the hearing. There would be no need for writing a decision, it was said, if the judges were to uphold the President's pardon.

LIGHTNING HITS HUGE CHIMNEY IN SO. BOSTON

A 200-foot smokestack at the plant of the Boston Beer Company, No. 249 West Second street, South Boston, was damaged in the first electrical storm of the year today, and telephone wire service was crippled when bricks from the stack crashed on the wires.

No one was injured in the crash. A flash of lightning, a deafening clap of thunder, and a twenty-five-foot section of the chimney was hurled to the ground. The lightning then tore down the chimney.

It was split for a distance of one hundred feet. The smokestack is located in a fenced-off area.

HAMON WANTED HIS SON TO BE PRESIDENT

Widow of Slain Oil Man Says He Had No Ambition to Get Fall's Post

Chicago, May 1.—The ambition of Jake Hamon, Oklahoma politician and oil man, was not to be Secretary of the Interior—it was to make his son, Jake, Jr., President of the United States.

This was disclosed today by his widow on her return from Washington, where she was summoned to testify before the Teapot Dome Investigation Committee, and then was not asked to take the witness chair.

"He wanted to be nothing else but chairman of the Republican National Committee," Mrs. Hamon said.

"'I'll get it and I'll hold it for years, until Jake, Jr., is old enough to take it over,' he told me," she said.

"'Then I'll make him chairman in my place and let him hold it until he is wise enough and old enough, and when that time comes I'll make Jake, Jr., President—the youngest President of the United States.'"

Hamon swung his support from former Governor Lowden of Illinois at her request, Mrs. Hamon said. Harding, she explained, was a distant relative of her family.

PEMBERTON, BRITISH NOVELIST, DIVOCED

London, May 1 (I.N.S.).—Mrs. Max Pemberton, wife of the well known British novelist, was granted a divorce today on the ground of her husband's unfaithfulness. Pemberton is 61 years old. He was maried in 1884 to Alice Agnes Tussaud.

200,000 IN BRITISH AUTO INDUSTRIES

London, May 1.—The April summary of British trade, prepared by the American Chamber of Commerce, points out that the British automobile industry consists of 78 firms, employing 200,000 people and paying out $150,000,000 annually. It also notes that the import duties on gloves and glass hollow ware lapse on August 19.

More than 1,000,000 spindles have been converted from American to Egyptian cotton since last July.

MITCHEL'S WIDOW HAS NARROW ESCAPE

New York, May 1.—Mrs. John Purroy Mitchel, widow of Mayor Mitchel, suffered no ill effects from the explosion of a toy balloon, playfully touched with a cigarette by a guest, which had set fire to her hair.

The accident occurred Tuesday night at the Russian ball at the Hotel Lorraine. Owing to the presence of mind of Major William Kennelly, the fire was quickly extinguished, and aside from shock and fright Mrs. Mitchel was not hurt.

MRS. COOLIDGE KISSES BOY FOR MAY DAY GIFT

Washington, May 1.—The old custom of hanging May baskets in the early morning on May day was revived at the White House today when three small children hung a basket for Mrs. Coolidge on the north door of the executive mansion.

Mrs. Coolidge called them back to thank them. The youngest of the three, a boy, was taken up by Mrs. Coolidge in her arms and kissed with the reminder that, "I once had a little boy like you."

TWO MORE MANSIONS ON FIFTH AVENUE GO

New York, May 1.—Two more of New York's well known mansions on Fifth avenue facing Central Park have given way before the steady march of apartment house construction. The two houses, which adjoin each other, belong to Louis Gordan Hammersley, one of which formerly was the residence of the late Countess Annie Leary. Hammersley decided to release the property when he learned Vincent Astor and Mrs. Hamilton Fish contemplated demolishing their houses on the avenue.

DRUGGISTS CUT OUT ALL FAKE NOSTRUMS

Aid Officials in Stamping Out Quack Medicines for Social Diseases

Quack nostrums advertised as "cures" for social diseases are being driven from the State of Massachusetts.

Fourteen hundred of the 1,800 druggists in the State have already enlisted with the officials of the Massachusetts Department of Public Health and the United States Public Health Service in their campaign, and these fake cures can no longer be purchased in their stores.

In lieu of these drug store remedies, which often were used with serious consequences, the State has set up thirty-five clinics where sufferers from social diseases may secure treatment free.

The patent nostrums are being driven out despite the vigorous protests of the manufacturers who reaped a golden harvest from the sale of their preparations to the small army of victims of social disorders who for one reason or another were unwilling or unable to consult legitimate physicians.

Leads Crusade

DR. ALBERT PFEIFFER.

BIG VICTORY.

Dr. Albert Pfeiffer, acting assistant surgeon of the United States Public Health Service, is in active charge of the campaign against the fake "remedies" in this State.

"We're nearing the completion of the most important victory the public health service has ever scored in New England," said Dr. Pfeiffer.

"Almost to a man the druggists are backing us in this campaign. Where we have taken the matter up with them, they have readily agreed to discontinue the sale of these preparations advertised as sure cures for social diseases, but which were not only useless, but in a majority of cases positively dangerous.

"The clinics operated by the State now offer a State-wide service to those of either sex who are unfortunate enough to contract social diseases. Within a few months it will be impossible to buy these patent medicines anywhere in the State."

Dr. Pfeiffer displayed copies of letters which manufacturers of the fake "cures" are writing to the druggists of the State in an effort to retain a market for their products.

One firm which manufactures a "cure" that has been widely advertised through sub-rosa channels, complains bitterly of the campaign of the health officials.

The State and government officials have not used force of any kind in seeking to wipe out these nostrums from the State. The druggists have been appealed to as good citizens and right-thinking men to aid in this campaign and without fail they have responded to the appeal. Many voluntarily destroyed their stocks of the "cures" while others turned them over to the State officials to be destroyed.

FREE CLINICS.

The Massachusetts State laboratories are turning out quantities of salvarsan and other costly serums used in the treatment of social diseases. These are available at the various free clinics that are available to every resident of the State.

As rapidly as possible, the remaining druggists of the State are being visited in the campaign. Massachusetts legislators have appropriated $70,000 to combat social diseases while the United States government is contributing a goodly sum from its funds.

H. C. Mosman of the State Department of Health is in charge of the field work and is enlisting the support of the druggists in the movement. Only 400 druggists remain to be seen until the campaign will be regarded as 100 per cent. efficient.

FRECKLE-FACE

Sun and Wind Bring Out Ugly Spots. How to Remove Easily with Othine

Here's a chance, Miss Freckle-face, to try a remedy for freckles with the guarantee of a reliable concern that it will not cost you a penny unless it removes the freckles; while if it does give you a clear complexion the expense is trifling.

Simply get an ounce of Othine—double strength—from any druggist and a few applications should show you how easy it is to rid yourself of the homely freckles and get a beautiful complexion. Rarely is more than one ounce needed for the worst case.

Be sure to ask the druggist for the double strength Othine, as this strength is sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove freckles.

PAST FLUNG AT EDITH GOULD IN COURT

Another Bitter Round at Paris in Her Suit to Share $40,000,000

Paris, May 1.—Edith Kelly Gould faced an attack of slurs and open scorn from the procurer of the republic, as another bitter round of her attempt to share in the $40,000,000 estate of her former husband, Frank Gould, was heard in Versailles today.

Brachet, the government's attorney, pointed at her and declared that she and Frank Gould should have married long before the ceremony was performed.

The fight has been over the status of residence. Brachet's opinion is Gould is an American, therefore the American findings, which exclude Edith Kelly from the estate, should be upheld.

He said she should get little or nothing of Gould's French estate.

Here's Where Dollar Goes When You Buy Meat

Washington, May 1.—Packers and wholesalers get 76 cents out of every dollar paid by consumers of meat to retail dealers, 19 cents pay the dealer's expenses and 5 cents represents the dealer's profit, the Department of Agriculture announced today in making public a survey of 142 retail meat stores in Chicago, Cleveland and New York, from March, 1923, to February, 1924.

CATTLE PLAGUE THREATENS PRIZE HERD

Hartsook Dairy Animals, Including Famous Cows, Hit by Foot and Mouth Disease

Los Angeles, May 1.—The menace of death today for the Hartsook Holstein dairy herd at Lankershim, near here, which, despite every precaution, has contracted the foot and mouth disease, brings the dairying industry of the country face to face with the greatest individual loss in its history.

The herd, including Tillie Algartra the world's greatest milch cow, is said to be the most valuable in its class in the world.

Destruction of the animals was held off until late today, while experts sought a way to save the lives of the doomed cattle.

Besides the famous Tillie, said to be the only cow that ever "put up" at the first class hotels of the country and who has been valued at $50,000, the herd includes many championship animals.

An outstanding pair also marked for destruction is composed of Miss Aaralia De Kol Mead and Miss Aaralia De Kol Aagie, full sisters, whose seven nearest days' average of more than 1,100 pounds of butter is the highest in the world.

Why INDICAN Indicates Danger for Most People.

"When Indican Writes, It Uses a Poison Pen"

ASK your doctor about INDICAN. He will tell you it is a substance looked for in examining his patients thoroughly. If he finds it in you—it means that the poisons of constipation are seeping through your blood into every muscle and every joint. This is what does the damage. It robs you of your pep—it poisons your optimism and good spirit—it pales your face and puts blemishes there—it gives you headaches—causes indigestion. No wonder you feel drugged when constipated.

You can get only temporary relief from most laxatives. But Carter's Little Liver Pills, it has been found, not only "physic" the stomach, liver and intestines quickly, but also drive the INDICAN away.

Make This Test: Have an analysis made of your specimen, and if the doctor reports the presence of INDICAN, or if you can "feel" how poisoned you are—immediately start taking Carter's Little Liver Pills as prescribed by him, or according to directions. Now have another test made and see how the INDICAN disappears. See how your complexion brightens and clears, your tongue is sweet and clean, you can eat like a kid again, in most cases.

Important: Carter's Little Liver Pills, used for 67 years by millions of people all over the world, are a purely vegetable preparation and contain no drugs of any nature. They therefore act in a natural way and are non-habit forming. Money refunded if results are not satisfactory.

"FABRICS" BILL OPPOSED BY COTTON MEN

Adopt Resolutions at Convention Here Protesting Its Passage

Sale of imported fabrics in the United States has increased 400 per cent. since 1919, according to figures presented at the semi-annual meeting of the National Association of Cotton Manufacturers at the Copley-Plaza today.

The association adopted resolutions opposing the French-Capper "Truth-in-Febrics" bill now pending before Congress and authorized the appointment of a committee to start a campaign to increase the sale of American-made fabrics.

For many years previous to the Underwood bill, it was pointed out, the importation of cotton cloth averaged 50,000,000 square yards under a duty of about 42 per cent. The Underwood bill reduced the duty to less than 20 per cent.

Since that time, according to figures gathered by the association, there has been an increase in importations amounting to over 200,000,000 square yards.

Most of this increase, the association claims, was made in high grade fabrics such as are produced in New England and equals the production of 1,500,000 to 2,000,000 spindles. This has caused short time operation of machinery and the loss of employment to many operators.

The association also passed a resolution calling upon Congress to "exercise the strictest economy in appropriations, thereby enabling the government to reduce taxes."

Nude Model Tries to End Life With Poison Before Art Class

Chicago, May 1.—Drama confronted the life class in the Art Institute when Constance McDermott, a beautiful model posing in the nude, stepped from the dias, and on the way to her dressing room swallowed poison. She fell in an ante-room. Assistance was summoned and she was sent to a hospital.

Miss McDermott is but eighteen and only recently took up the work of a model. While other models hinted at a love affair, physicians believe her situation before the life class caused her attempt on her life.

LAYS FARM PLIGHT TO GOVERNMENT POLICY

Omaha, May 1.—Gilbert M. Hitchcock, former United States Senator, declared before the Nebraska Democratic convention today that the national government policy had been adverse to Western interests and destructive of Western prosperity. He said:

"Agriculture in the West is receiving on an average about 15 per cent. more for its products than ten years ago, and paying for what it buys 85 per cent. more. That's what's the matter not only with the farmer, but with the small towns and the larger cities that do business with the farmer. This accounts for the bankruptcy that has swept through the Middle West."

Crippled by Corns? Use "Gets-It"

World's Greatest Corn Remover

It's just wonderful how "Gets-It" ends corns and callouses. Put a few drops of "Gets-It" on a hurting corn and Presto! The pain stops at once forever. No matter how long you've had corns, how bad they may be, whether hard or soft, or what you have tried, believe this—"Gets-It" will end corn pain at once, soon you can lift the corn right off with the fingers. Money back guarantee. Costs but a trifle—sold everywhere. E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago.

T. POT PROBERS ARE TOLD ABOUT OTHER LEASES

Witness Says Daniels Approved All Contracts to Private Interests

Washington, May 1.—The Senate oil committee for the first time in its inquiry into the leasing of the naval reserves took up in detail today the situation in Reserve No. 2 on Buena Vista hills in California.

Assistant Secretary Finney of the Interior Department and Director H. Foster Bain of the bureau of mines were called.

Finney gave a complete list of all leases made on the Buena Vista reserve and reviewed the history of each. This reserve is known as the "Checkerboard" reserve because the lands held for the navy were in most instances alternating sections with the intervening sections under private control.

Many of the early leases, Finney showed, were for offset wells, granted to protect drainage by wells on adjoining properties. While authority for making the earlier leases rested in the Secretary of the Interior, the witness said Secretary of the Interior Payne in all instances referred applications to Secretary of the Navy Daniels and made no leases without the latter's approval.

MAH JONG NO CRIME PRISONERS FREED

New York, May 1.—Seventeen Chinese students arrested in an apartment at No. 46 Mott street and charged with disorderly conduct, were discharged by Magistrate Corrigan in Tombs Court.

Detectives of the Special Service Division, who made the raid on neighbors' complaints, testified that the Chinamen were playing Mah Jong, that the windows of the apartment were open and that the players were using loud language.

The Magistrate ordered the detectives to return the equipment taken from the players. He also made this comment:

"Playing Mah Jong is not a crime. Almost everybody is playing it."

16 PRODUCERS BACK ACTORS IN STAGE WAR

Broadway Managers Split in Controversy With Equity Association Members

New York, May 1.—The war of the actors and their employers, the play producers, entered another phase today.

Sixteen producers, who are responsible for more than 40 per cent. of the shows on Broadway and on the road, and known to be friendly to the demands of the Actors' Equity Association, have formed a new association, known as the Managers' Protective Association.

Broadway understood this to mean that the managers' forces were split on the rock of the actors' controversy, and that the producing Managers' Association, with which the actors are squabbling over a new agreement, will lose the sixteen producers who organized the new association.

While none of the officers of the P. M. A. would comment on this phase of the situation, President Sam Harris' cryptic remark that "we have lost the Shuberts, but we are bearing up as well as could be expected under the circumstances," was taken to mean that the powerful Shubert interests had gone over to Equity's side.

B. U. GIRLS DEBATE WITH MAINE RIVALS

The girls' debating teams of Boston University and Bates College have thought up something to argue about, so today the local team went to Lewiston, Me., and had it out. The Bates girls upheld the question: "Resolved, that the United States should join the World Court under the Hughes reservations."

Adeline Feinberg, captain of the B. U. team and former speaker for the Republican Campaign Committee; Grace A. Sullivan, Evelyn Casler and Beatrice Hancock had a number of reasons to down this argument.

CARPENTERS QUIT IN WILLIMANTIC

Willimantic, Ct., May 1.—Carpenters engaged in outside work struck today because their demand for an increase from 82½ cents to $1 an hour was refused. They turned down the Master Carpenters' compromise offer of 90 cents. About 90 men, members of the Brotherhood are affected.

Mothers know a dose of DR. CALDWELL'S SYRUP PEPSIN Will keep them fit

'First Aid' For Sick Children

THE experienced mother is not alarmed when a child becomes sick. She knows that most of the ailments of childhood are trifling. If it seems serious she calls a doctor, but whether or not she calls him she gives, first of all, a good laxative medicine. The doctor would advise that anyway. It is his "first aid." Such experienced mothers as Mrs. Everett E. Hunt of Belzoni, Okla., who has three children and never any sickness, and Mrs. F. B. Kuklenski of Prosser, Wash., always give Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin at the first indication of sickness. Such timely doses have saved them much worry.

The Meaning of "Good"

All doctors agree that a thorough cleaning out of the bowels is of first importance for it removes dangerous intestinal poisons. They will also advise a "good laxative," and by "good" they mean one that is effective and yet harmless. They know that there are physics that never should be given to children – calomel, which is mercury and loosens the teeth; phenolphthalein, a coal-tar drug that causes skin trouble; salts, which concentrate the blood and dry up the saliva. They consider Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin safe for all ages as they know it is a simple vegetable compound of Egyptian senna with pepsin and agreeable aromatics. The formula is on the package.

Give Laxative for Colds

Adults should have at least one movement of the bowels every 24 hours, and children two or three. Failure to have it means constipation, then headache, biliousness, drowsiness, lack of appetite. Give a dose of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin at bedtime, and there will be health and good feeling by morning. A dose costs less than a cent, and a bottle can be had at any drug store. Colds and constipation come together, so if you notice coughing or sneezing stop it at once with Syrup Pepsin.

Boston Leaders Score New Alien Bill as 'Un-American' and 'Hate-Inspiring'

Leaders among professional, industrial and business men of Boston are up in arms against the new immigration bill.

Un-American, discriminatory, outrageous and hate-inspiring are among the characterizations of the Johnson measure, which would cut down yearly admittances to the "land of the free" from 360,000 to 190,000.

That our proud distinction as a "melting pot" is threatened by the measure, is the view of some of its opponents.

KLAN'S HAND SEEN.

Others declare that the country needs more immigrants rather than less, as stipulated under this most drastic restriction in the history of the country.

Utterances of Congressmen who reported the immigration measure in the House are branded as "nothing short of treason" by one critic. He also sees the hand of the Ku Klux Klan in the bill.

The following are some of the attacks on the bill as voiced to the American:

DR. J. M. BREWER, professor of education, Harvard University—George Washington said he wanted the House of Representatives to be close to the people and the Senate to be cool-headed. His illustration was the pouring of tea into a saucer to get it cool, and he likened the Senate to the saucer. Instead of being cool-headed, the Senate went up in the air when the Japanese Ambassador made a perfectly decent statement.

I was born in California and I taught there, and I prefer the gentlemen's agreement, with all its defects, to any bill that stirs up trouble on the Pacific. I think the Johnson bill gives us an unfavorable representation to the European countries by suddenly cutting off the people on the Mediterranean.

Rather, the bill should limit immigration down to one per cent, of some recent census than such discrimination. It would have been better for the old bill to have been continued until a commission had been appointed and studied the various groups to see how they are assimilated.

There should be an investigation of aliens as to their ownership of homes, the divorce rate among them, their vocational efficiency, citizenship, observance of law and their forms of recreation, etc.

E. KENT SWIFT, treasurer of the Whiten Machine Works, Whitinsville—A certain amount of what is called "rough" labor must come into this county, and I am opposed to the Johnson immigration bill, which would interrupt this necessary stream. This rough labor gradually develops into skilled labor in our industries, and it must come in constantly as a contribution to our prosperity to take the place of those steadily advancing into the skilled classes.

JOHN A. PERKINS, local agent of the Harmony Mills of Cohoes, N. Y.—If industry should run at full time in this country there would be a severe shortage of help. Personally, I believe that every man who is willing to work and willing to become a good American citizen, not a criminal and not liable to become a pauper, should be allowed to come into this country, but we have pedlars enough here now. A man who is willing to work never goes very far wrong.

ROBERT AMORY of Amory, Browne & Co., president of the National Association of Cotton Manufacturers:—I am opposed to the Johnson bill as going too far in its restrictions. A great many want to come to America to become citizens. Past experience has shown that this type of immigrant is thrifty and hard-working, and usually becomes a property owner. We should be very careful to avoid keeping out this type of person, no matter in what numbers he seeks to enter.

W. IRVING BULLARD, treasurer of the National Association of Cotton Manufacturers:—No one can afford to under-estimate the vital importance of a full and complete understanding of the immigration problem. Without a well-balanced policy on immigration this country cannot expect the fullest measure of prosperity. Personally I am strongly in favor of a selective policy which would bring to our shores those whom we believe could easily be assimilated and could add to our social and industrial progress. Arbitrary exclusion of immigrants is un-American.

P. A. SANTOSUOSSO, editor Italian News—The National House of Representatives has voted under the discriminatory, un-American Johnson immigration bill to allow 45,229 Germans into our country as against 4,689 Italians. The Senate increases the quota of Germans to 50,159 and with the same stroke it decreases the quota of Italians to 3,889.

Thus Congress finds a way to reward Germany for starting the World War and for killing off thousands of our boys. Thus Congress finds a way to have Italy atone for failing to join Germany in the World War and for being one of the biggest, if not the biggest factor in bringing the war to a successful termination for the Allies.

REV. HENRY W. PINKHAM, Secretary of the Association to Abolish War—Our organization has gone on record petitioning President Coolidge to veto the exclusion measure in the imigration bill. We are all immigrants over here and it behooves us to be careful how we attempt to exclude others, simply because we have arrived here before them.

Our world relations to be consistent, would be greatly interfered with, if we draw lines too closely. If immigrants do not size up to what we expect of them as Americans, let us by all means make use of the means in every way to prove our efficiency in becoming a melting pot.

ATTORNEY JEROME A. PETITTI—The report of the House committee on immigration contains statements of a nature tending to have a part of our American people feel hatred and contempt toward the remaining part of the people.

That report says: "An impelling reason for the change is that it it is desired to slow down the stream of immigrants which is not easily assimilated." I think such a statement has the tendency to create unrest and perhaps strife between races.

I think the congressmen who signed the report are not patriots, but enemies of a great many of the people of this country. Their utterances in this matter are nothing short of treason.

It is my belief that the people who have been discriminated against will resent the insult very deeply. They feel that those of English extraction in Washington are creating propaganda against those of different extraction. It is nothing else but propaganda such as has been carried on by Ku Klux Klan—wholly un-American and hate-inspiring.

JEREMIAH SMITH TO RESIDE IN PALACE

Budapest, May 1.—Jeremiah Smith of Boston, commissioner general for Hungary under the League of Nations' reconstruction plan, arrived here and was met at the station by representatives of the Premier and foreign minister and was driven to the Hotel Hungaria, where he will reside temporarily. The government intends to offer him rooms in the left wing of the royal palace, with offices in the Ministry of Finance.

SICK WOMAN MADE HAPPY

Entirely Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Mart, Texas.—"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to build me up as I was all run-down, nervous and sick. I ached and hurt all over so that I was often compelled to go to bed, and I had to have most of my work done. No medicine seemed to help me until one of my neighbors who was taking the Vegetable Compound insisted on me trying a bottle of it. The medicine helped me from the first, and the best of all is that I can even sew again without that awful, nervous feeling I was used to having. And I used to take crying spells, with such a blue feeling that I cannot explain. Now all that has left me. I feel so cheerful, and I have gained in weight, sleep well and eat hearty. Oh! I wish I had words to express what this medicine has done for me! I am a housekeeper and do every thing from the sewing to the washing now and it doesn't hurt me. You may use my letter in any way you wish. I will be glad to help any suffering woman to the road of health and happiness."—Mrs. H. F. Brannon, 404 Travis Ave., Mart, Texas

TWO POLICEMEN ON TRIAL FOR NEGLECT

One Admits He Quit Pat and Had a Sleep; the Other Blames Telephone

While Patrolman Quenh Dever of the Charlestown Police Station was supposed to be patrolling his beat between 11 p. m. and 1 a. m. he was fast asleep in a schoolhouse.

Dever admitted this when he pleaded guilty to neglect of duty before a police trial board. He explained his failure to [illegible] in to his station because he was not feeling well and went into a schoolhouse to sleep. His case goes to Commissioner Wilson for disposition.

Patrolman Martin A. Kelley of the Dudley street station also appeared before the trial board for the third time since the first of this year. He was charged with failing to make duty calls from 11:20 p. m. until 12:45 a. m. Kelley declared he called but that the police telephone must not have worked. On the other [illegible] appearances before the board [illegible] was given a total of 150 hours punishment duty.

BEAT AND ROB MAN IN SOMERVILLE

Three armed men held up William Joyce, thirty years old, of No. 873 Somerville avenue, on Lake street, near Union square, Somerville, and, after beating him up, went through his pockets and robbed him of $25, part of his week's pay.

U. S. NEVER IN BETTER SHAPE, SAYS DAVIS

America Is 'Queen of the May' as Regards Industrial Relations, Says Labor Secretary

By JAMES J. DAVIS,
Secretary of Labor

Washington, May 1 (Copyright, 1924, by I. N. S.)—For some time past it has been apparent that the industrial horizon of the world is slowly brightening, but our own people today are proud to be able to acclaim that America is "Queen of the May."

Here and there may be found slight industrial differences between employers and employes, but none of these is of more than local significance.

As Secretary of Labor it is a great satisfaction to me to be able to say to the hundred and ten million persons I serve that so far as industrial relationship is concerned, the country was never in better shape.

'COME ON HOME' 'MA' JOHNSON TELLS MAGNUS

Senator Sadly Opines He Can't Return to Farm Joys at Present

Washington, May 1.—"Come on back to the farm," "Ma" Johnson wrote to her husband, Senator Magnus Johnson of Minnesota, in a letter received today.

"Ma" left here some time ago because she could not get used to the social customs of official life and because she liked life on the farm better.

"Everything is fine on the farm," she wrote, adding that already there are nineteen fresh cows and twenty-five new little piggies with excellent prospects for many more additions to the herds. The boys are getting the crops planted, she said," which is a whole lot better than trying to play politics down in Washington."

The Senator sadly opined he couldn't quit.

RUNAWAY HORSE BREAKS WINDOW KEEPS A-GOING

A runaway horse that bolted in Blue Hill avenue, Dorchester, today crashed head on through a plate glass window, backed out, resumed his mad gallop, struck a pedestrian and endangered a number of children [illegible] before being halted in Merrill street.

At the risk of his life, Patrolman [illegible] [illegible] the bridle of the fleeing animal [illegible] on of Blue Hill avenue, stopping the runaway [illegible].

Joseph [illegible], No. [illegible] Nightingale street, Dorchester, lost control of the horse in Blue Hill avenue. [illegible] the avenue and plunged through a plate glass [illegible] store at No. [illegible] Washington street, owned by Joseph Carra.

From here the runaway wheeled into Merrill street, struck Walter [illegible] of Merrill street, and was headed toward a group of children when the policeman halted his gallop. Randall was slightly injured.

Roxbury Man Chased Wife He Thought Was a Crocodile

Each night for the past couple of weeks or so, Philip E. Walsh has been rolling into his domicile at No. 46 Hampton street, Roxbury, carrying divers and sundry packages.

According to Mrs. Walsh none of these packages has helped replenish the Walsh larder or dispense an atmosphere of harmony.

This morning Walsh is said to have reached the point where his dreams were filled with visions of pink elephants and flying crocodiles. While chasing a crocodile, his wife charges, he attacked her [illegible].

Walsh was arraigned on a drunk charge today in Roxbury Court, and his wife, [illegible] with the butcher knife, asked for a warrant on the charge of assault.

REHEARSED HOLDUP IN HER HOME

Cecilia Cooney, the Bobbed Hair Bandit, in jail in Brooklyn to[illegible], describes in her exclusive story how she came to meet her husband, how they decided on a life of crime and how they held a rehearsal of hold ups in their home before starting out for their first exploit.

She adds nothing and withholds nothing in her story to excuse their crimes. Her husband persuaded her it was "the easiest way" to get money quickly. They realize too late it was the hardest way.

The Boston American presents her uncensored story as a great human document that carries its own moral—crime never can pay.

By CECILIA COONEY,
The Bobbed-Hair Bandit.
CHAPTER III.

They say Ed will get a longer stretch in the penitentiary than I will. They say he's the man and more to blame. They say if Ed never met [illegible] I would never have [illegible] the Bobbed Hair Bandit.

That last may be true—in a way. If Ed never met [illegible] I'd never [illegible] got married, [illegible] if I hadn't got married I wouldn't [illegible] baby.

They can [illegible] their heads off if [illegible] they think I'm [illegible] Ed with the [illegible] were [illegible] of [illegible].

Ed thought of it, but I was willing. We planned those holdups and talked them off together. Ed's [illegible] square with me. He [illegible] was [illegible] from the first night I met him in the Fulton Theatre a year and a half ago.

It was a Saturday night. I was living in that little room at 459 Franklin avenue and lonesome. I thought I'd blow 30 cents and take in the vaudeville and movie—they got both at the Fulton—and maybe I'd run into some of my boy and girl friends.

When the lights went up I looked around and first I didn't see anybody I knew and then I spied a [illegible] I didn't know [illegible]. I thought, gee, I'd like to meet him. They was talking together and laughing. Ed had nice teeth and a nice laugh.

"Meet Mr. Cooney"

So when the show was over, I bumped into Joe like without noticing Ed and said "Oh, [illegible] Joe," [illegible] wonderful smile. I guess it must have been love at first sight, though I didn't let him know it for a long time afterward.

We went together, the three of us, to a chop suey place and had [illegible] I danced with Joe, and made out he and I were great friends, and Ed sat. Ed doesn't dance much. But when we left Ed walked all the way home with me.

Maybe you think I wasn't pleased later when I found out Ed had a car—not his own, of course—[illegible] worked for Pat Herman who's got a [illegible] shop on Atlantic avenue, Brooklyn, and Mr. He[illegible] used to let him drive a car. It's the same [illegible] the time of the hold ups.

Ed and I kept company for several months, and got engaged. He gave me a beautiful ring, a solitaire red stone. It's on my finger with the wedding ring. And we were married in the Church of the Nativity. Ed's mother and his brother Tom were there and Mr and Mrs Harrington and I carried flowers and there was [illegible] and everything.

No Honeymoon Money

[illegible] working. We stayed [illegible] at No. 887 Dean street and then Ed rented a little [illegible] No. [illegible] Manson street, Brooklyn. [illegible] $12 on [illegible].

It wasn't so [illegible] all day and then doing the cooking and washing for both of us in that little room and after a few weeks Ed made me quit. Said he didn't want his wife going out to work.

Ed was a good husband and a good worker. He got up early every morning, went to the shop, got there ahead of the boss, started the [illegible] and worked all day. [illegible]

Got to Have More Money

One night after supper, Ed sat drumming on the table with his fingers while I was cleaning up. He hadn't said much all the evening, and he turned sudden to me and said:

"Kid, we got to have more money. [illegible]"

WIFE'S HALF BROTHER ACCUSED

Somerville Submaster Charges He Stole Her Love; Asks $50,000

Charging that Horace S. Lowell, of No. 146 Massachusetts avenue, Lexington, has alienated his wife's affections and enticed her to leave his home, Herbert H. Shailes, a submaster in the Southern Junior High School, Somerville, has brought suit for $50,000 against Lowell in the Middlesex County Court at East Cambridge.

Lowell, a half brother of Mrs. Shailes, is a dealer in confectioners' supplies at No. 9 [illegible]. Mrs. Shailes is now living with her [illegible] at Brunswick, Me.

Mrs. Shailes has filed a divorce suit against her husband in the same court, charging Shailes with cruel and abusive treatment and misconduct. She names Sadie Abbott of No. 266 Washington avenue, Chelsea, as the corespondent.

Lowell denies all the allegations and states that if there was any alienation it was due to the plaintiff's own misconduct and breach of [illegible].

Mrs. Shailes says that she was the wife married to Shailes at Revere in June, 1917, and that he has been cruel to her in Danvers, Boston and at Raymond, Me. She charges that her husband misbehaved at Winthrop on Aug[illegible], [illegible] Boston on August 13 [illegible] at various times [illegible]. She also charges [illegible] with various [illegible] women whose names are not known.

Shailes is said to have at one time been a ball player on the Worcester team of the New England League. He is now teaching in the woodworking department of the high school.

Odds Drop to 1 to 2 1-2 Smith Will Be Nominated

New York, May 1 (I.N.S.)—Recent political developments had aided rather than hindered the chances of "Al" Smith being nominated Democratic choice for President, according to betting commissioners in Wall street. W. L. Darnell & Co. are offering $2,000 against $5,000, or odds of 1 to 2½, that Smith will receive the nomination. That price compares with 1 to 3 offered about a week ago.

The Darnell firm also is offering $2,000 against $13,000, or odds of 1 to 6½, that Smith will be elected President, compared with 1 to [illegible] quoted recently.

THAW FREE, IN CUSTODY OF KEEPER

Allowed by Court to Leave Asylum for Visit to His Mother in Pittsburgh

Philadelphia, May 1 (I.N.S.).—Harry K. Thaw today is free under Judge Monaghan's permission to leave the Pennsylvania Hospital for Mental and Nervous Diseases until "further orders of the court."

The judge, in the formal decree, gave Thaw permission to visit his 82-year-old mother, Mrs. Mary Copley Thaw, at her home in Pittsburgh in the custody of the keeper, Joseph Connolly, who has been attending him at the hospital.

Soon after Judge Monaghan issued the decree releasing him word was flashed to Thaw at the hospital and he made plans to leave immediately.

Thaw, who was recently declared sane by a jury before Judge Monaghan, is under the court's jurisdiction pending decision on an appeal for a retrial of the case, presented by William A. Gray, counsel for Evelyn Nesbit, Thaw's divorced wife, who opposed his fight for freedom.

Later in the day Thaw arrived in Pittsburgh and went to the home of his mother on Beechwood boulevard.

COSMOPOLITAN HARVARD

FAIR Harvard.

Truly the great institution across the river is more than living up to its motto.

The "rich man college" howlers have been silenced and most of the other anti-Harvard screechers are at the end of their ropes.

A glance at the following partial list of stars now in the Crimson limelight may prove of interest to the general public:

- IZZY ZARAKOV, Jewish, captain freshman baseball team.
- EARL BROWN, phenomenal colored pitcher on varsity team.
- JUNE MYAKAWA, Jap, varsity team catcher.
- LEO DALEY, Irish-American, 1923 freshman football captain.
- CLEM CODY, Irish-American, football star.
- AL MILLER, Jewish, also a gridiron star.
- RED HAGGERTY, Irish-American, track star.

No propaganda can hurt Harvard—it is a college for both rich and poor, and no color line is drawn.

Fair Harvard. J. B. GILLOOLY.

MAT CHAMPION FEARS HE MAY LOSE TITLE

By JACK CONWAY

Strangler Lewis, fearful of losing his title as world's heavyweight wrestling champion, arrived in Boston today to begin strenuous training for his finish bout, best two falls out of three, with the mighty Stanley Stasiak, Polish champion, which will be staged by the Old Howard management at the Boston Arena a week from tomorrow night.

Stanley Stasiak

[illegible] Lewis won his title from Stanislaus Zbyszko that he considered a match of such importance that he planned a week's training on the scene of the contest so as to be in perfect condition.

Lewis also called off a bout he had booked for Lexington K., for tomorrow night. He did not feel that he could [illegible] he be prepared [illegible] show at [illegible] best against Stasiak.

The champion [illegible] open, weather permitting. He believes that by working outdoors he will be in much better condition than he would be if he were to train in a stuffy gym.

Stasiak has been training at Combination Park, Medford. He is being assisted by a flock of rugged grapplers as well as by Pat McCarthy, Roxbury [illegible] heavyweight.

Jack Sharkey [illegible] heavyweight sensation, will also join Stasiak's staff of trainers provided he returns to Boston early next week from a trip to his former home in New York.

DAVE SHADE OFFERED $3,500 TO TACKLE AUGIE RATNER

Try and get a high-class opponent for Augie Ratner, heavy hitting New York middleweight, and [illegible] realize the troubles [illegible]

Since Ratner socked Jock Malone around, all of the fancy steppers have been sidestepping Jimmy Johnson's battler.

Augie Ratner

When Malone was asked if he would agree to [illegible] Ratner [illegible] a return match, he replied:

"Nothing doing. That bird is too tough. I'm not so dense that I don't know when a boxer has got my number."

Matchmaker Tom Goodwin of the Suffolk A. A. has made Leo Flynn, manager of Dave Shade, a $3,500 offer for a meeting between the Californian and Ratner.

When Malone was introduced at a recent Great Norfolk [illegible] he remarked rather bitterly:

"It's thumbs up when you mention the name of the ordinary fighter to Malone, but thumbs down when you ask him to battle Dave Shade. He knows that Shade is too fast for him. Johnny Wilson has also passed up offers to battle Shade."

Perhaps Shade [illegible] to avoid a meeting with Ratner [illegible] Dave [illegible] Ratner [illegible] weight [illegible] few fans, however, who believe that even the sensational Shade [illegible] conquer the man who showed [illegible] masterful Malone so many new boxing tricks.

PALUSO AND DREW IN TUSSLE AT WORCESTER

Lou Paluso of Salt Lake City, one of the most satisfactory 180 pounders in the country, will meet some worthy opposition when he clashes with Johnny Drew in a ten-round bout at Worcester on tomorrow night. This is the best ring attraction billed for up-State fans for many months [illegible] Worcester favorite, will give [illegible] Paluso plenty of opposition.

Harvard Eleven to Play Brown Nov. 4 in Providence

Harvard will break a thirty two-year-old tradition on November 1, 1925, when the Crimson eleven will play Brown at Providence. It will be the first Harvard-Brown game played off Harvard territory since 1893.

Exception to a Harvard faculty ruling limiting the football team to one trip a season was made in courtesy to Brown University, which launched a drive for new athletic equipment at a graduate banquet in Providence.

Brown will play an entire home schedule next Fall. Harvard, Yale, Princeton and Dartmouth will be the principal opponents.

TARAMASCHI TO CLASH WITH RUSSIAN

Angelo Taramaschi, Italian heavyweight [illegible] champion, will have Count Nicholas Zarynoff, Russian nobleman, as an opponent in a finish bout, best two falls out of three, at the Old Howard show at the Grand Opera House [illegible] been showing brilliant form [illegible] having won over George Romanoff [illegible] and Wladek Zbyszko.

Angelo Taramaschi

Zarynoff made his Boston debut against Stanley Stasiak. He displayed plenty of form in that encounter and is of the opinion he will be able to toss the Italian title holder.

Jack Conway is picking Taramaschi to win.

Miss Cora Livingston, lady wrestling champion of the world, will defend her title against Miss Hazel Kinnard of Somerville in a finish bout, best two out of three. There is [illegible] rivalry between the [illegible] and it is expected [illegible] one of the most interesting contests of the season.

There will [illegible] several bouts between amateurs. The "Simon pures" have been asking for an opportunity to do their stuff and so Matchmaker Paul Bowser arranged an amateur card as a preliminary affair for tonight's show.

AMATEUR RING STARS ON IN TITLE BOUTS

The New England boxing championships carded at Mechanics Building, Thursday evening May 8 will shatter all existing records for the number of entries as well as the attendance records.

Billy Cuddy

The championships will again be under the direction of William H. Cuddy, chairman of the Olympic Boxing committee and for this reason, the success of the tourney is assured.

All eight championship classes are [illegible] and in each division it is expected that new entry records will be set up. Never before in the history of the [illegible] bouts have so many early entries been received and by the time the entries close, it is expected that every known amateur in New England will have entered the tournament.

The championship classes include 112, 118, 126, 135, 147, 160, 175 and heavyweight. Entries [illegible] close next Tuesday [illegible]

Gold, gold and silver [illegible] will be awarded to winners and runners-up [illegible] N. E. A. A. U. [illegible]

Chet Roche Eager to Battle Sheppard or Friedman

[illegible] Fitzpatrick wants to match Chet Roche, his classy bantam with Johnny Sheppard, Abe Friedman, Tommy Nee, [illegible] Gardner or Terry Parker. Roche, who recently arrived in Boston from California, formerly lived in Boston, and fans will recall him boxing under the name of Young Morris. He twice defeated Tommy Nee, also whipped Dutch Regan of East Boston.

Eddie Williams is ready to box any featherweight in the country. Williams hopes to get a match with Chapman, Drew, Finnegan, Freddie Jacks, Lew Paluso or Joey Fox. Fitzpatrick feels that Williams should have been awarded the decision over Corbett, because Williams did all the forcing and landed the cleaner punches. "Corbett didn't lead once during the clash," says [illegible]

[illegible] auspices the bouts are being [illegible]

It is expected that followers of the simon pure mitt game will come all the way from all sections of New England for these bouts. With the exception of the national championships the New England is the biggest tournament of [illegible] for the [illegible]

BRAVES SIMPLY HAVE GOT TO STOP THOSE GIANTS

McGRAW'S MEN OUT IN FRONT OF PROCESSION

By NICK FLATLEY

Quite a proposition confronts our Braves in the next few afternoons. They must tackle the Giants, and incidentally lick them, to get even for losing three in a row in Gotham—all by one run—and to keep the champs from spreadeagling gthe field.

John McGraw

Jawn McGraw, whose team was supposed to crumble into the second division this Spring, is out in front, anad rapidly getting no closer to the rest of the league. When Jawn's expensive athletes lost seven games out of eight down in Florida this Spring, the word went around that the title owners were all through.

Perhaps they didn't figure much in the far South, but things have changed greatly since the season got rolling. The New Yorkers have been having a lot of fun with their Eastern rivals, and it looks as if they will start for the West with a fine lead, unless the Braves can apply the brakes.

BRAVES CONFIDENT OF BEATING GIANTS.

The Braves, if the truth be known, haven't perhaps the proper respect for the champions. They were beaten by them at the Polo Grounds, but the luck and the umpires and sundry things like that are reported to have been all against them.

Hank Gowdy

The boys expect a turnover in this series. Bancroft is especially anxious to stage some kind of a surge. Barry was a Giant hero, and was boosted for a manager by McGraw, so he's perfectly willing to thank Jawn by peeling his athletes a few times.

For a couple of years the Braves have been tough customers for the invaders anyhow, even when the local team was in the depths.

Everybody likes to jump on a champ, even a lowly second division club. The champs won't stand for it often, which is probably why they are champs.

STRYKER DESERVED THIRD VICTORY.

Several wigwam hurlers have been Giant killers in the past, and are certainly in good fettle now to repeat the performance. Genewich was held out of the Brooklyn series to open up today. Marquard and Barnes have both been rested up. The engagement should be quite frisky.

Rube Marquard

The ultimate defeat by the Robins wasn't exactly enjoyable, but it does go to give a little additional proof that Stryker is a mighty good pitcher. This young man really should have won his third in a row. He went eleven innings very well after a wretched start. There was some doubt in some minds as to his ability to go a long distance, but he has erased all that. He was pitching great ball in the ninth, when he was entitled to a trip to the showers.

The Worcester find pitches as if he liked to, and knew a whole lot about it. He doesn't give the batters good balls to hit, and he comes pretty close to hitting the spots he shoots at. He has a knuckle ball, and has control of it, and this floater helps him a lot in crossing up the opposition.

Pitching regularly, as he will, he should improve steadily, and be a whale of a help by the time Summer reaches these parts, if it is ever going to make said trip.

PITCHING IMPROVED, SAYS JOHN HEYDLER

New York, May 1.—Proof that major league twirlers, particularly in the National League, are showing greater effectiveness this season than in several seasons, was seen by John A. Heydler, president of the senior circuit, in the results of the first stages of the 1923 campaign.

These show, he pointed out, that of the 46 games played in the National League up to and including yesterday, 22 were decided by one-run margins. The indication of improved pitching is further shown by the fact that eight of these games were decided by 3-2 scores and five by 2-1 margins, in addition to which four shutouts have been recorded.

MIDDLEBURY IS EASY PREY FOR HARVARD

The Middlebury scare proved to be pretty hollow at Soldiers Field, and a strong Harvard nine punctured the hopes of another famous "Middlebury stand" by humbling the Vermonters, 11 to 5, in a wildly-played game.

The contest was a frenzied affair throughout, with lots of wild throws and erratic fielding. Middlebury started auspiciously by annexing two counters, but the Crimson tallied five times in their half of the first stanza.

Earl Brown, the Crimson's colored right-hander, performed well. He showed lots of stuff, mixing a fast ball with sharp curves. His was always a bit wild, passing eight men and twice hit Conley, third baseman for the visitors.

He was relieved by Toulmin in the eighth.

Todd, sophmore center fielder, did the slugging for the Crimson. He whaled out three hits, and knocked out a homer the first time he batted.

POOL STARS TO PLAY AT ORIENT HEIGHTS

INTEREST GROWING IN WESTERN FOURSOMES

As the time for sending in entries for the mixed foursomes golf championship at Weston draw nearer, interest in the event grows steadily. The latest word is that both Francis Ouimet and Jesse Guilford will take part in the event, Ouimet partnered by Miss Lillian Morrill and Guilford by Mrs. C. E. Deland.

Mention already has been made of the fact that Miss Collett and Clark Hodder will combine forces. An exceedingly strong combination on the Weston course should be that of Miss Ruth Batchelder and Lawrence Page, two Weston members. Miss Batchelder has been playing some and hits so good a ball that this should make it interesting for any other pair.

B. C. NINE BEATS COLBY; WINS 6TH STRAIGHT

Boston College won its sixth straight game by defeating Colby, 7 to 3, at Alumni Field. Colby scored its three runs in the ninth inning, when Frank McCrehan, the B. C. twirler, weakened after pitching a fine game. A bad infield hit by R. Fransen struck McCrehan after the second run had been scored, and Mullowney, who replaced him, only allowed one run.

B. C.'s big inning was the second, when Darling got to first on an error; Whelan drew a pass, both coming home on Cronin's triple. Finnegan was hit by Howard, scoring on the error which sent Ward to third, while the B. C. catcher added the other run when McCrehan got to second on a gift from the up-Staters. Foley, Phillips and Wilson went out in succession.

EVERETT HIGH BEATS BURDETT COLLEGE

Everett High whaled Burdett College nine 10 to 4 yesterday at the Everett Field. Coach Brickley worked two cub pitchers on the mound, McGonagle and Warner, and both got away fine. The strong batting of the Everett team when runs were needed gave Everett six tallies in the fifth inning.

LEE FOHL HOPEFUL AS SOX BATTER A'S

Philadelphia, May 1.—Manager Lee Fohl of the Red Sox is in no wise discouraged over the showing of his hopefuls to date and felt confident today of taking the majority of the games from the Conniemacks during his stay in this city.

Jack Quinn

"I won't deny that I expected to make a better showing in Washington, but that series is all over now and I haven't got the least bit of kick to make. It is the very nature of baseball to upset the dope, and the Senators sure did tangle up my ideas somewhat during our recent stay in the Nation's Capital. Perhaps it is just as well that the boys have got their woes out of their systems at this time, with the long home stand against the Western teams coming shortly.

"Some of the more formidable contenders for flag honors in the American League hail from the far away parts, and the Red Sox will have to be up and doing to check the rush of the Tygers, Indians et al. I expect my players will be, too and that we will leave home in a month or so in a vastly improved position over that which we occupy just now.

Ed Rommell

"All that we need right now to put us in the thick of the fight is a trifle better pitching and with warmer weather that seems certain to develop."

Fohl had both Jack Quinn and Howard Ehmke warming up for the initial fray with the Conniemacks, while the astute Mr. McGillicuddy had Ed Rommel working out in the bull pen, so a regular pitchers' battle seemed about to develop when the umps called play ball for the first game of the Red Sox on Shibe Park this season.

B. C. Plays Dean Academy

AL NIXON PLAYING IN OUTLAW LEAGUE

Philadelphia, May 1.—Al Nixon, the speedy outfielder who ran away from the Phillies about a week ago, is now playing with one of the outlaw teams which form the Mid West League.

The Phillies tried to lure Nixon back after the player was discovered in Chicago, and though he was promised a steady job in Arthur Fletcher's outfield, Al decided to cast his lot with the outlaws. Nixon jumped the Phillies after he was obtained by them from the Braves in exchange for Ray Powell.

CRIQUI MEETS FRUSH IN PARIS VELODROME

Paris, May 1.—A twenty-round bout between Eugene Criqui and Danny Frush, the American boxer, has been arranged. The fight will take place June 1, in the Buffalo Velodrome here.

This will be the first appearance of Criqui in the ring since last October, when he injured his hand in a bout with Henri Hebrans, the Belgian fighter.

LOS ANGELES ON 1-TUBE WITH NEW SET

Los Angeles on one tube.

That is what one fan did with one of the new Boston American sets.

This is the [illegible] up that will be [illegible] beginning tomorrow. It is the set that is going to be the rage this Summer.

In order to see what the set would do [illegible] several sets were sent to various fans to experiment to try out.

Arthur L. Pratt of [illegible] North street, North Weymouth, was one of those who tried out the [illegible] [illegible]

"I would like to tell you of the reception I have had using your one tube hookup. I find it very selective and by far the most satisfactory set I have used. I get all the [illegible] stations and KDKA and the New York stations on the loud speaker, using only one tube. Also have good reception on DX, the most distant being KFI, Los Angeles, and Dallas, Tex., which I received weak but clear, on the phones. I use a [illegible] tube with 90 volts on the plate.

"I believe the reason [illegible] of [illegible] is due to [illegible] frequency transformer. [illegible] good feature is the [illegible] of [illegible] allowing short leads [illegible] as [illegible] is not at all critical [illegible] and most any good crystal [illegible] good."

F. Amos, of Village avenue, [illegible] another who tried out [illegible] new sets, says:

"The case with which I was able to tune in stations was beyond my expectations, especially as you had told me that the first dial was very sharp.

"I was able to get on an average of twenty stations a night, [illegible] on the loud speaker. My greatest distance was PWX, KFKX [illegible] CFCN."

[illegible] the first article on the [illegible] new set will be published [illegible] articles will follow daily [illegible] the complete directions for building [illegible] set will be in the hands of every fan. Please don't miss any of these [illegible] as we cannot promise back copies. Many were disappointed [illegible] the old American Super because all editions were sold out!

Radio Queries

I am using a —— neutrodyne. I cannot have an outside antenna. I am using three strands about 30 feet long with a lead in that follows the telephone wire about fifteen feet. Do you think I would get better results with the signal corps system of a rope box?
A. M. R.

It is probable that the signal corps system would work better. The difference would not be startling, however, as there is no real substitute for actual straight-away length.

What is the matter with my one tube regenerative set? I have to keep hold of dials of variometer and condenser to get anything plain.
A. A.

The set should be shielded.

Will you tell me whether the variable condenser in the Pingree set should be in shunt to the stator of the variocoupler, or in series? What would the diagram be written in symbols if the copper shield were not used?
W. B., [illegible]

The condenser is shunted across the coil. The diagram would be just the same without the shield. The feature of the set is in the use of the shield in place of several special bus bar connections, which would otherwise have to be made.

I have a —— set, and get such stations as Chicago, KDKA, WHN and WOR, etc., never farther. Would a one-stage reflex help range and selectivity? Why does it give more volume on a 45-volt B battery than on 67½ volts? Is it as cheaply operated with three 4½-volt C batteries hooked in parallel as with three 1½-volt dry cells as A battery?
J. G.

A reflex cannot be added. A stage of radio could be added, however, but would not greatly increase the range. If 45 volts give more volume, there is probably something defective with one or more cells. C batteries will not be as economical for A battery as the regular style.

Can the American Baby Super set be used with the Crosley 51 (detector and one-stage audio-frequency)?
H. R. G.

Yes.

WAR DEPARTMENT

Two Backs

Which is Yours on Monday?

FOR GENERATIONS women have had back-achey washdays

TODAY a new kind of laundry soap takes all the drudgery out of washday—leaves you fresh and free for vital things

FOR generations women have worn themselves to weariness—too tired on washday to give anything fresh to their homes, their children.

And the clothes they spent so much precious energy on—the clothes themselves did not escape the harmful effects of this kind of washday! For the eternal rubbing of the clothes to get them soapy, and rubbing them to get them clean—played havoc with the family wash.

TODAY—women all over the country are being released from this old drudgery.

You now see many a fresh, energetic mother at the end of washday eager and ready for a romp with the children—able to give smiling attention to the more vital needs of her home.

A wonderful new kind of soap has made this possible—a soap that gives you the cleanest, snowiest wash in the way that saves your time and strength! Rinso, the first really modern laundry soap!

Rinso simply soaks dirt out of clothes. Its creamy white granules dissolve completely in boiling water. You pour this rich Rinso solution into your tubs—it makes the water soapy all through.

Just use enough Rinso to get big lasting suds after the clothes have been put in. Then only a light rubbing is needed on such especially grimy spots as collar bands, cuff edges, and the like.

Because Rinso is completely dissolved it rinses out thoroughly, giving you a gleaming white wash. No bits of soap to stick to clothes and turn them yellow under the iron.

USE Rinso for every washday step—soaking, boiling, washing machines. It does the whole job—you need no other soap.

Rinso is made by the makers of Lux. It is just as successful for the family wash as Lux is for all fine things.

Make your next wash easy—get Rinso at your grocer's—regular size or big new package. Lever Bros. Co., Cambridge, Mass.

CHICKIE

The Beautiful, but Bluntly Honest Story of a Boston Girl

By ELENORE MEHERIN

Seething Life of a Lovely Boston Girl of This Strange Today

"SURE they'll empty the cup at twenty! You gave it to them for a sip before they were out of rompers!"

Chickie laughed; "But Janina, you believe in emptying the cup."

"I don't deny it, do I? I don't sit back in complacent staleness and whimper because the world's gone smash. They do and they start it. As for me, I like the wreck! I can swim."

"You mean you can talk, Janina. If you really did the things you say, you'd be crushed by them."

"Chase yourself! Do I look flat? Or feel flat?"

"Because you only talk."

"I thank you, baby, for the sweet commendation. Rule me out, then. Does our friend Amy Heaton have a pale and tortured look?"

"Well—who really knows about her—"

"Oh, nobody! Diamonds grow on hedges! She carries a valise on Saturday mornings just to keep her hands busy. She takes the 8 o'clock train for the Cape every weekend just to hike! In high heels and $5 hose! And she lives in an apartment alone—that is sometimes—that costs $85 a month; she has a different fur for every outfit; never wears a stocking that costs under $3.50. But she earns $125 a month. Tell me how, ole dear. I'm some crafty shopper myself. I couldn't make that grade—not on my own—"

"Not many girls are like that."

"No—Amy comes high—an expensive one—"

"You don't think there's anything terrible in it?"

"You bore me to extinction with your hand-me-down platitudes! Why is it terrible for a woman and not worth nothing in a man? Can you tell me that? No, pink and pure, you can't! I'll tell you—it's just that the minds of people are educated to accepting it in the Lords of Creation. They may stray as they will, but, let us budge off the chalk line, and they'll run the scarlet flash down your back!

"At least they used to, but times are changed. Look at the novels of the last century—look at poor Hester Prynne and Hetty Sorrel. But today we have 'Lilian,' 'Ann Veronica' and 'The Pretty Lady.' That shows it—all in the way you look at it. No worse for us than for [illegible]. We've found it out."

Chickie drank this as though it were a life draught. She wanted more of this drug. Put her spirit to sleep, hush its tormenting voice. Oh, why not? The world is free—

Chickie was like one with a raw gash on her arm. It hurt her so, she was impelled to stop now this one, now that, seeking some anodyn to kill its pain.

When she spoke to Jimmy, all unaware he struck his hand across the wound. Now Janina dropped ointment. She took it with a pitiful eagerness—asking more.

Janina, sitting opposite, cool and handsome, insisted calmly that she did the things Jimmy considered so "terrible." Yet Janina puffed a cigarette, blowing the smoke with delicious satisfaction, exulting in every breath life gave her. She was not crushed. Indeed not!

Chickie said with elaborate indifference: "Makes it nice for pretty ladies, doesn't it? Only why do they need to do it?"

"What do you mean need?"

Pretending to smile at the youngsters who were now clapping their hands as an immense birthday cake was brought to their table: "Well, there's still such a thing as marriage, isn't there? They could wait for that, couldn't they?"

A mocking laugh: "Yes, like dear ole Stella did! Marriage, my dear, is a luxury the gods do not give to all. Not enough men to go around and not enough of what there are, inclined to the holy state."

Janina's lips curled with sardonic humor: "One way you look at it, isn't convention a vicious thing? It's a matter of actual statistics that women far outnumber men. So some of the best get left. Take Stella for example. Now she'd make a peach of a mother and you know how wild she is for kids. Along comes some pretty nonentity and grabs off the man Stella had staked out as her own.

"Now, I ask you—is it anything but vicious to shove poor ole Stella into the frigid zone and shout at her: 'Stay there! You get left!' And would anyone but a boob like this same Stella heed such an order?"

Chickie's own problem was too sore and too pressing. She was not interested in Stella. She said: "But when two people each love, Janina, there's not much reason why they shouldn't wait for marriage, is there?"

"Might be a thousand reasons why they'd be fools to wait. Love doesn't always wait on circumstance, you know. But why ask me? I'm beyond the pale! Marriage hasn't been anything in my young life."

"Has love, Janina? You've never really told me. You mean now that you loved and you thought you had the right?"

Janina's strong, brilliant face paled as it did when she was suddenly and deeply moved. After a pause she said bitingly: "Being rather primitive, ole dear, I didn't wait to ponder the right and the wrong."

Excitement rose swift and hot to Chickie's throat. She said eagerly: "Oh, it swept you?"

"I'll say it did!"

"Afterwards were you sorry?"

"I'm not sorry now and I wasn't then."

"Not at all? Not even in the very beginning?" Unconsciously Chickie leaned forward, her eyes glittered.

Janina regarded her with hard amusement: "Why so interested in this recital of crudeness and wrong, little one?"

Chickie stammered, flushing painfully: "It wasn't crude at all, then. And when you love a person, I suppose it makes a difference, doesn't it?"

"Usually happens that way. All young and trustful once, you know."

"Do you mean that you were to be married and then something happened? Oh, that must be dreadful!"

"Maybe I had a speaking hope of that, though marriage didn't enter much into the consideration. Well—it was quite some time ago."

An odd softness crept into the clear, incisive voice: "Know why I'm telling this to you, angel face? Well, I'm fond of you. And I hate contempt! Even though it gives me an ache and I can see the fool hypocrisy of it."

"Oh, I don't feel contempt for you, Janina."

"You have."

"No—but just the same, I can't understand how you could do it and not feel sorry, even."

Janina's shoulder raised scornfully: "Leave it to the good people to burn with remorse. My kind of love doesn't measure its giving. It doesn't come creeping afterward and try to snatch it back. What I did I wanted to do. That's all there was to it."

"Weren't you afraid the man might think less of you afterward?"

"Oh, that mid-Victorian stuff! What is a man, anyway, that he should scorn us because we have the same feelings he considers so imperious and right in himself? But that's the meanness of women—petty things dependent on the attitude of others."

To Be Continued Tomorrow.

Giving an Introduction

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Please tell me how to introduce a gentleman to my mother, two sisters, my brother and his wife.

M. McG.

TO your mother: "Mother, may I present Mr. Smith?" To your sisters: "Mary, may I present Mr. Smith?" or "My sister Mary, Mr. Smith." To your brother: "Bob, Mr. Smith." To your brother's wife: "My sister-in-law (or sister, if you call her that), Mrs. Brown: Mr. Smith."

LISTEN, WORLD!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

WHAT do you think if capital punishment, Mary? Suppose it were YOUR boy who was going to be hanged?

Suppose, after all the years of feeding and scolding and petting and educating and tucking him in at night, he were to get into serious trouble and the government were to take him away from you and hang him because of that trouble?

Would you feel that capital punishment "concerned" you, then? Stop and think it over. You have the vote now. If boys are being hanged or gassed or electrocuted, it's because YOU wish it done.

On March 25, the Governor of California decreed that no executions will henceforth be held in the State prisons on Good Friday. "Good Friday is a day revered by all Christians," said the governor, "therefore all executions set for that day will be postponed."

Jesus Christ lived for about thirty-three years. During each day of those years he preached and practiced the doctrine of love and forgiveness. He did this in a day when hate and revenge were rampant and underlay all private and public codes.

He preached love and forgiveness, not because He was a cowardly sentimentalist, for such very preaching in that day and age proved Him to be a courageous revolutionist, but because He knew they PAID.

So, after He was safely dead and could no longer bother men with His biting parables and scathing sarcasm, we appropriated His name and called ourselves "Christians."

It was a nice name. It made us somehow feel that we shared His bravery and beauty. It was a very noble name wherewith to cover the same old brutality and hypocrisy and stupidity. For never for one instant did we stop being brutal and stupid.

We have now decreed that no poor sinner shall be killed on the day when Christ was sacrificed. That's His day. But on all the other days, on all those days when he begged for love and mercy, the hangings go merrily on.

It's a funny world, isn't it, Mary. A terrible, fumbling world with very little light as yet in its cramped ape brain, and very little kindness as yet in its darkened ape heart.

And you, the Mother, stand between its beastliness and that little child of your body. Mothers have not always stood as you stand, Mary.

Another mother, 1,900 years ago, lay heartbroken at the foot of a cross because she could not save her Son from the mob. But you can save your son, for you have the VOTE.

DAILY RADIO CHATS FROM STATION WNAC, SHEPARD STORES

By MARTHA LEE

I moved to the beach last Saturday and I'd have to tell you how early I had to dash to the station (only a mile and ¼ away) to get the first train to the big city to get the fish prices for all you good radio friends of mine.

I did get them though, and here they are: Bluefish 30c, Butterfish, 30c, Steak Cod 16c, [illegible] Haddock [illegible] of Sea, 30c, Haddock 16c, Eastern Halibut, 35c, Western Halibut, 30c, Mackerel [illegible] 18c, Large Mackerel 20c, Fresh Salmon, 40c, Sea Scallops, [illegible] a qt., smelts 30c, trout, 30c, Live Chicken Lobsters 45c, Large Live Lobsters, 50c, Boiled lobster, 60c, Pollock, 10c, Cusk, 8c, Canadian salt cod, 2[illegible] [illegible] Shad [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] Frog legs [illegible] doz. Fresh Herring [illegible] [illegible] Spanish Mackerel [illegible]

And now I wonder if you [illegible] to have a fish calendar, something to tell you when the various fish are in season. In our last fish talk I reminded you that it is always cheaper to buy fish that is in season, and I'm sure this table will help you.

Alewives—March to May.
Bluefish—May to October.
Butterfish—Summer.
Clams—All the year.
Little Neck Clams—Fall, Winter and Spring.
Cod—All year.
Crabs (Hard)—All year.
Crabs (Soft)—May to October.
Eel—All year.
Finnan Haddie (Cured) October [illegible]
Flounder—Winter and Spring.
Haddock—All year.
Hake—All year.
Halibut—All year.
Herring—All year.
Lobster—All year.
Mackerel—All year.
Fresh Spanish—May to July.
Tinker Mackerel—Fall.

Smelt—Fall and Winter.
Swordfish—June to October.
Tomcod—All year. Abundant in Winter.
Yellow Perch—All year.

Now I think I'm going to give you some of my favorite fish sauces.

Much can be done with the ordinary cream sauce made by heating a cup of milk in your double boiler, thickened to the right consistency with 1 tbsp. of melted butter and 1 tbsp. flour blended to[illegible] [illegible] hot milk. We read on [illegible] Sauce [illegible] [illegible] rice and half strong [illegible] ken broth, simmered together until reduced to one half its original bulk and highly seasoned.

[illegible] CREAM SAUCE is [illegible]

CAPER SAUCE is made by adding [illegible] to the white sauce.

[illegible] CUCUMBER SAUCE add grated cucumbers to the white sauce.

EGG SAUCE is white foundation [illegible] eggs add [illegible]

DRAWN BUTTER is made by melting 4 tbsp. of butter stirring in 4 tbsps. of flour, stirring together and adding [illegible] pint of boiling water all at once and stirring until smooth. Add 2 more tbsps. of butter, working in a half a spoon at a time, then season. This is a foundation for many sauces. For instance:

HOLLANDAISE SAUCE is easily made by using drawn butter sauce for a foundation and stirring in 2 tbsps. of additional butter [illegible] ing the sauce just [illegible] this point, and add lemon juice to taste. It should be a thick, yellow [illegible] like [illegible]

MOUSSELINE SAUCE [illegible] Hollandaise Sauce with half [illegible] whipped cream added.

In general remember in making sauces that they must not [illegible] after the egg yolks are added or the sauce will curdle, also remember, however, that eggs will not thicken sauce unless the boiling point is nearly reached, so make [illegible] [illegible] watching [illegible] [illegible] for it to [illegible] and then watching [illegible]

[illegible] to sauce, drop in a small piece at a time, stirring each until it is blended before adding more. Don't prepare your sauces until you are ready to use them, or, if you must, keep [illegible] over water [illegible] the boiling point.

Space permits us to publish only a brief resume of the Martha Lee Daily Radio Chats and Recipes. To get all of these helpful and interesting talks, Listen in to Station WNAC at 10.30 A. M. Daily.

Cocoanut Oil Fine For Washing Hair

USE MULSIFIED

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with.

Many soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much free alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it. The best thing for steady use is Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo, which is pure and entirely greaseless. It's much better than anything else you can use for shampooing, as this cannot possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. Two or three teaspoonfuls will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excess oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy, wavy, and easy to manage.

You can get Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo at any drug store. It is inexpensive, and a few ounces will last everyone in the family for months.

BOBBIE AND HIS PA

By Wm. F. Kirk

I WAS kidding some gurls that goes to our skool, they are littel gurls, only about as tall as what I am, but they caim to skool with long skirts on them wich was dragging on the ground & I was kidding them about it.

One of them gurls was pritty big & she hit me on the doam with a rock wich almost cracked my doam & I neerly fainted away & beefoar I cud catch her she was in side of her own yard so I couldent git eeven but I will git eeven.

It served you rite, Bobbie, sed Pa wen I toald him about it. You had no bizness making fun of a littel gurl with a long dress on, sed Pa. I am glad to note that yure deer mother is waring long skirts agenn, sed Pa. For a cupple of years her skirts was so short that I cud almost imajin her riding a horse in a cirkus, sed Pa.

How silly, sed Ma. I have nevver been X-treem in my dress.

You were jest like the rest of the old dames at that time, deerest, sed Pa. You wore yure skirts too short at that time & now I notis that all the fore seets wares skirts that drags on the ground, sed Pa. It is hard to beet [illegible] for beeing X-centrick, [illegible] that is what Pa sed.

Why does peepul have to ware different kinds of dresses & [illegible] I sed. Why cant thare be one kind of a uniform for one & [illegible]

[illegible] peepul are not alike, [illegible] sed Pa, & one of the ways in which they are different is the way they dress, sed Pa.

My deer old father was a swell [illegible] sed Ma, he knew jest what to ware always, sed Ma. I reememb[illegible] he wud nevver ware stripes [illegible] because they made him look thin[illegible] than he was, sed Ma.

Yure old gent was thick enuff [illegible] ways so he cud ware stripes, [illegible] Pa, & if I reemember rite he had a brother that went in for stripes for about 3 years, didn't [illegible]? sed Pa.

What do you meen? sed Ma.

Didn't you have a unkel that did a bit in a nice littel Queen Ann jail? sed Pa.

Wh[illegible] [illegible] sed Ma. I nevver was so insulted in all the yeers of our marridge, sed Ma.

I know it, sed Pa. He shud that of you beefour he done rong, sed Pa.

Ma was giting awful mad but [illegible] then she notised that Pa was trying not to laff so she got wise. That is one thing about wimmen, if thay aint wise they can git wise but a man that aint wise is always going to stay that way, I [illegible] [illegible] & [illegible] my [illegible] lesson that gives me a awful pane but I have got to take it.

IDLE THOUGHTS

Some dancers are becoming so fiercely acrobatic that all they now need to complete the circus is a trapeze and a tight-rope.

Ella thinks that dumbbells are only bells that will not ring.

Dot is already worrying about the styles for next Winter.

A filing clerk with a second-hand flivver is as proud, if not prouder, than a millionaire with a new railroad.

When I consider the early diet of Eve I don't think so much of the "apple a day" proposition.

When the boss's good-looking son comes into the office every desk needs a "no parking" sign.

We've got a certain party in these works who is always talking of starting a poultry farm. If he does, I'll bet he doesn't turn out anything but hard-boiled eggs.

New England Brains Directing Nation's Greatest Enterprises, Forbes Says

THIS SECTION OF COUNTRY SUPER-MAGNATES' CRADLE

By B. C. FORBES

They worship ancestors in the Orient. They also worship them in New England.

That has had and is still having a peculiar effect upon progress.

So long as the original J. P. Morgan was alive, the present J. P. kept scrupulously in the background. His father was the whole firm; the son played only a very minor and always inconspicuous part in the firm's operations—just as, n of American bankers.

that same policy, I am nas always been followed hout New England. The f the family is everything:
n or sons do not seek to hemselves to the front.

s has had two results:
st, not a few sons have been d as underlings for so long when the time came for them
p into their father's shoes, were not trained and ready tart exercising initiative and ing.

Second, it induced quite a number of sons, particularly younger sons, to strike out for themselves in other parts of the country.

Yesterday's column mentioned two or three instances of men invading Boston and doing big things.

But New England brains, as a atter of fact, are directing many f the very largest enterprises hroughout the United States.

One of the modern industrial wonders of the world is the General Electric Company. Its founder and upbuilder and for more than a generation its active head, was the still vigorous G. A. Coffin. He is a native of Maine.

The president of the largest industrial corporation in the world, James A. Farrell, of the U. S. Steel Corporation, is a product of New Haven.

James A. Farrell

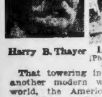
C. E. Mitchell

The financial institution which towers head and shoulders above any other bank in America, the National City Bank of New York, is presided over by a young New Englander, Charles E. Mitchell.

The second-largest national bank in the country, the Chase of New York, also has as its president a New Englander, Albert H. Wiggin.

The greatest automobile corporation in the world, General Motors, has as its president a New Haven man, Alfred F. Sloan.

The president of the largest packing enterprise in the world, Louis F. Swift, first saw daylight at Cape Cod.



Harry B. Thayer

That towering industrial giant, another modern wonder of the world, the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, is guided by a native of Northfield, Vermont, Harry B. Thayer.

The foremost dry goods house in America admittedly is Marshall Field & Co. of Chicago. The man who guided its destinies with conspicious success for many, many years and who only recently resigned the active reins, was John G. Shedd, whom Marshall Field himself proclaimed as "the ablest merchant in America." he hailed from Alstead, New Hampshire. Marshall Field himself was born in Conway, Mass.

C. W. Eliot

John G. Shedd

One could go on and on, citing other instances of New Englanders who have sallied forth and raised impressive monuments for themselves.

* * *

The American Woolen Company, which has been so tremendously developed that it no longer has any competitor of the first magnitude, is the handiwork of William M. Wood, who entered the world at Edgartown, Mass.

William M. Wood

F. C. Dumaine

In the cotton industry that wonderful giant, the Amoskeag Manufacturing Company, has at its helm another New Englander, Frederick C. Dumaine.

Several of the foremost railway managers in America come from New England.

When you turn to the arts and education, New England led the New World in the past, and the foremost educator of today, Charles W. Eliot, is a native Bostonian.

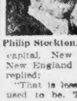
When I remarked to Phillip Stockton, president of the Old Colony Trust Company of Boston, that I had been hearing so much about the restrictive influence of "dead hands" upon New England capital, New England industry, New England business, he briefly replied:



Philip Stockton.

"That is less true today than it used to be. The men who have made money in recent times are more numerous and much richer than the remaining trusts, estates, etc. The new race of successful leaders is rapidly becoming more and more of a force in Boston and elsewhere.

"Whatever may have been said of banks in the past, it is the fact that they are today ready to extend very sound financial assistance in the development of New England resources and New England industries.

"We are somewhat handicapped by State laws against branch banks. We are allowed to have only two branches. We ought to have the right to establish more branches."

Mr. Stockton added: "We know how to operate industries successfully, we have plenty of money, we have good labor, we have a good reputation. All New England needs is proper transportation. I am so anxious to see the best possible transportation facilities furnished throughout New England that I do not share the objections many have to allowing the New York Central to take over a second railroad in New England, the Boston & Maine. The Central operates the Boston & Albany very efficiently and I believe they could handle the B. & M. with equal efficiency."

More will follow about the achievements of New England and New Englanders, not in the dim past, but during recent times, and a vision will be given of the New England of the future.

QUOTATIONS WEAK IN GRAIN MARKET

Chicago, May 1.—Grains continued weak today, most futures shading yesterday's final prices. Wheat started unchanged to quarter cent lower, with scattered selling. Prices were: Wheat—May 103¼, July 105¼ to ⅜, September 105¼ to ½. Corn—May 76⅝, July 78⅛ to ⅜, September 78. Oats—May 46⅞ to 47, July 44⅝ to ½, September 40⅝. Rye—May 63½, July 66¼.

PRICES BETTER IN NEW YORK TRADING

Prices were generally better in trading on the New York Stock Exchange with call money renewing at 4 per cent. The reduction in the New York Federal Reserve Bank rediscount rate, which at 4 per cent. is the lowest since the war, exerted a favorable influence.

U. S. Steel opened up nearly a point.

TELEPHONE STEPS UP.

American Smelting gained 2. Davison rose over 2.

There were point or better advances in the afternoon for Crucible, Corn Products, Famous Players, Gulf States, Central Leather preferred, Norfolk & Western, Industrial Alcohol and Cast Iron Pipe.

In trading on the Boston Stock Exchange there were gains of around a point for New Haven, American Sugar and Amoskeag. Edison rose a point from the day's low.

American Telephone was up 1 1-4, while New England Telephone was 1-4 lower.

Calumet & Hecla yielded ½ to a new 1924 low. Torrington gave way a point.

BONDS GO HIGHER.

Responding to the reduction of the rediscount rate, New York bond prices moved up briskly under leadership of U. S. government obligations. All the Liberty issues dealt in established new peak prices for the year, the 3½s touching par for the first time, and Treasury 41-4s mounting to 102, the highest figure ever recorded.

Demand for speculative investment liens brought a marked revival of activity to the railroad group, with advances of 1 to 2 points embracing a wide range of the low-priced mortgages.

Seaboard adjustment 5s reached a new top price for the year of 59, and St. Paul and Missouri Pacific issues resumed their upward movement. Norfolk & Western convertible 6s were up 2 points.

H. D. FOSS & CO., INC.

To K. U. Y.—H. D. Foss & Co., incorporated under the laws of Massachusetts, filed with the Massachusetts commissioner of corporations statement of its financial condition, dated December 31, 1923, which compares:

LOW PRICES.

To D. F. M.—Not one of the stocks named for your investment of $500 may be rated as investment. Only two of them, International Combustion Engineering and Reynolds Spring, pay dividends. From the fact that their prices range from 11 to 25 it would seem that you were attracted by the low prices. They are all speculation. Reynolds Spring, one of the dividend payers, now distributing $2 a year, paid 50 cents in 1923 and $1 in 1920. International Combustion Engineering has been paying $2 annually for two years. It paid $6 in 1921, and also distributed a stock dividend of 200 per cent. in 1922. This stock, the best of your suggestions, does not rate as investment because earnings up to the latest reports have just about covered dividends for the last two years. If you want to buy any stocks, like these, you must do so on your own judgment. Your Transcontinental Oil is a gamble. Latest earning figures of Martin-Parry warrant holding the stock. Brooklyn Edison is the best thing you have.

PETROLEUM RISKS.

To H. E. S.—Meridian Petroleum Corporation went into receivership in June, 1922. "Receivership" ends the career of nearly all oil promotions. In December, 1923, 6,724 shares of Meridian were sold at auction for $75 for the lot. The man who buys cheap oil stock doesn't stand a chance in a million to win.

STOCK IS SOUND.

To H. F.—If you bought for investment, hold Melville Shoe preferred; it is sound. The company, which has outstanding $716,300 preferred stock, showed net profits of $195,524 in the six months ended July 31, when total sales were $3,001,994. The full report for the year has not been issued, but sales for 1923 totaled $6,264,990. This amount of business, taken with the fact that preferred dividends for the entire year were amply earned in the first six months, is sufficient warrant for expecting dividends to be paid right along. The decline in the price might be due to the fact that many buyers of new issues make a temporary purchase in the hope of "scalping" a few points profit. When their sales come into the market naturally the price declines until the shares bought for speculative purposes have been redistributed among investors. The price need cause you no anxiety with such assurance of dividends.

SOUND BONDS.

To C. J.—The four bonds are sound, but of the grade they represent we should select but one for your purpose. When creating an estate you should lay the foundation solidly. You should, in other words, buy the higher grade bonds first. You might get $1,000 Illinois Bell Telephone 5s, but in addition to these it would be wise to select a bond like New York Central refunding and improvement 5s, 2013. The latter are legal investment for savings banks in New York, and they yield 5.20 per cent.

GENERAL MOTORS.

To J. R.—General Motors 7 per cent. debentures and Public Service of New Jersey preferred yield about 7 per cent. All five stocks are good, but if you are looking for the highest yield available among them it would be logical to buy ten shares of General Motors debentures. This stock will be a sound addition to your list. You have done well.

SOME CHOICES.

To H. K.—Your three lists present a very wide field for choice, ranging from excellent investment to sheer speculation. In your first group less than 6 per cent.; North American preferred, Pennsylvania and Westinghouse, yielding over 6 per cent., appeal to us as the best purchases. With twenty shares of Consolidated Gas preferred already owned, we should disregard the common. Kresge Department Stores is essentially speculative.

In the second group Union Pacific preferred and New York Central are the two stocks which would meet with our approval. The big Texas company is strong, and so are the Standard Oils, but at present we think they carry a business risk. The other stocks in this group are even more definitely speculative.

As to the five bonds you name, though they may be considered sound in varying degrees, they do not measure up to the four stocks we approved in your first group. These stocks would go very well with the securities you have, all of which are sound investment.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. F. X. MAHONEY,
Boston Health Commissioner.

SWAT a fly now and keep millions from being born during the coming Summer. The propagation possibilities of a single fly almost stagger belief. Scientists have proved that a single fly, permitted to breed under favorable conditions, will have descendants in a single season that are numbered not in millions, but in trillions.

Dr. Mahoney.

But swatting the fly isn't all. Make it impossible for the fly to breed about your place and if your neighbor does the same thing, there will be no flies.

The fly can breed only in filth. A manure pile is the favorite breeding place. Therefore, all such places should be carefully screened.

The family garbage pail is another excellent breeding place. See to it that your garbage can has a tight-fitting cover and also see that outside of the can is kept scrupulously clean at all times.

Open drains, rubbish piles and in fact any kind of dirt offers a breeding place. See that your drains are properly covered and disinfect them frequently. Clean up the litter and rubbish about the yard and in the cellar.

The odor of food attracts flies. The legs of the fly and the fly's body, in nine cases out of ten, are covered with thousands of microbes from the filth where the fly previously tracked. Keep all food closely covered.

The complete eradication of the fly seems to be impossible except in theory. But it is possible to keep the home free of flies. Tight fitting screens, a fly swatter close at hand and a little attention to the problem will keep the living quarters entirely free of the pests.

Above all things remember that a campaign against the fly is many times more effective now than it will be a few weeks hence.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED.

I caught my foot under the edge of a mat and fell on the floor, badly injuring the muscles and bone of right leg between the knee and hip. Have used liniments, but cannot bear weight on that leg. What will help me?
L. M. S.

I would advise immobilization of leg for about ten days, using splints if necessary. There is a possibility of tendons being torn, and complete rest will care for the same.

Have consulted three different doctors and have taken medicines for diabetes. Am 65 years of age. Have an awful itch which keeps me from sleeping. Would like to get authoritative word on what to eat and also to be informed as to the insulin treatment. E. M., Jr.

If your case is diabetes, you must cut down on your sugar, candy, and all starchy food until you are sugar free. The itching is undoubtedly due to sugar in your system. Insulin treatment is of great benefit in the treatment of diabetes, but must be given by a physician, at least at first, as it is a dangerous drug, if not taken with care.

When the thyroid gland does not work properly, what are the commonest symptoms? Are they those which a layman can discover? Would it have any effect on the heart action? B. M. T.

When the thyroid gland does not work properly, it may lead to malformation or inhibition of natural growth. It may cause a rapid heart beat with tremors and bulging of the eyeballs. A thorough physical examination by a competent physician is essential without delay. The thyroid gland secretes a material containing iodin which is essential for the human organism.

Am 52 years of age and in spells have severe pains. These weaken my stomach and cause chills to run up and down my spine. Many times, am so faint that I can hardly sit up and practically lose control of myself through weakness. Am well and normal in every other way. P. M. P.

Pains in the back passage may lead to very serious results. Would advise immediate medical examination and insist on a detailed examination.

THE HELPING HAND

Letters Not Answered Personally. No Attention Paid to Telephone Calls or Anonymous Letters. No Names Published.

Clothes and Magazines

Editor Helping Hand:

I have a quantity of clothing, including dresses, shoes, hats, and a tweed spring coat that will fit a girl of twelve to fourteen years old. I also have a number of monthly and weekly magazines that some invalid might like to have. Please send me addresses and I will gladly send the things at once.

Has Carriage To Give

Editor Helping Hand:

Your letter is at hand in regard to carriage I offered. I will be glad to give it to any mother in need of one, also some clothes for a small child about 2 or 3 years old, a boy. MRS. J. E.

Thank you. You have been sent the address of Mrs. W. C. who is in need of a carriage, and of Mrs. M. D. G. the mother of six boys.

Like New for Baby

Editor Helping Hand:

I have a lot of clothes for a young baby and would be glad to give them to some poor person who expects a baby or has a tiny one. They are all like new. thought maybe you could find somebody who could use them.
MRS. L. G. C.

Thank you. We have sent you the address of Mrs. C. F., an expectant mother, husband is sick and out of work.

Deserves Credit

Editor Helping Hand:

I saw my letter of thanks in the paper tonight and I was awfully disappointed because Mrs. L. of Springfield was not mentioned. It was she who sent ten dollars and she surely deserves credit and thanks for her generosity. If I knew her address I would write to her personally. Won't you please let her know how grateful I am to her?
MRS. G. C.

Clothes for Woman

Editor Helping Hand:

I have some clothes for a woman, size 44, one suit, one-piece dress and a skirt. If you will have someone call for them, they can have them. D. W.

Thank you. You have been sent the address of Mrs. G. H. B. and we have written her to call for what you offer. She lives fairly near you.

GIRL BANDIT TRAINED FOR HOLDUP GAME

have more money, and it'll be worse when the baby comes, but how are we going to get it?"

It was maybe a week after that he brought it up again. He said: "Look here, Celia, I've been thinking about how we might get more money, and there's one way all right we might do it." I said: "How?" And he said: "Well, come here and sit down." And he told me a lot of people were getting away clean with big wads of money in holdups, and if we just had the nerve we might try it, too, and if we had any luck we might pull off a couple of good ones and then settle down and have a home of our own.

I'm not trying to put the blame on Ed. If he thought of it first, I was willing. At first it seemed a sort of joke, just talk, that we would never really do. But I got to thinking about it, too, and I got to thinking most of all about the baby that was coming, and what a big difference it would make for the baby if we had a decent place and some money in the bank, and the next time Ed got to talking I said, free of my own will, "Look here, Ed, if you really mean it, I'm willing."

Ed had one pistol, a little .25 automatic. It's the one I used in most of the hold-ups. I don't know where he got it. He had it when we were married.

But one pistol wasn't enough for what he planned to try, and we decided to get another. Ed tried a couple of stores in Brooklyn, but they wouldn't sell him. The detectives were stumped to find out where we got those other pistols, and it's no wonder.

One night after supper, Ed went over to the Bowery and tried one of the pawn-shops. He didn't get them there either, but while he was in the store talking, there was a negro man who heard him, and as he went out the man followed him. They went into a doorway, and the negro sold him two guns for $3 apiece. One of them was a Smith & Wesson and the other was a gun something like it, but I can't remember the name.

We staged a little holdup at home that night. I put on my hat and coat, and put the little automatic in my pocket. We had made up our minds we'd try a store first. So we moved the table over, and Ed stood behind it like he was a clerk, and I pretended to walk in and ask for a dozen of eggs, and he pretended to give them to me, and as he was handling them, I backed off and pulled the gun out of my pocket, where I'd had my hand all the time, and said, "Stick 'em up quick!" just like I'd read in a magazine.

Practiced Hold-Ups

Then we practiced another way, with Ed coming in behind me a minute later and pretending he didn't know me, and then pulling his gun to back me up.

Several nights we got the car and cruised around, looking for places we thought would be safest to try, and then one Saturday night, about eight o'clock, we got all set for the real business. Ed left me at home, and left the guns at home. He went and got the car and came back to pick me up, and put both the big guns in his pocket, and I had the little automatic in the pocket of my fur coat, and we went downstairs into the street, and he took up the hood of the engine to see if it was running steady and smooth. He drove and I sat in the front seat with him, and he said, "scared, Kid?" and I said, "Not a bit," and he said, "Well, look out for the safety catch." And off we went to pull our first real hold-up.

(Tomorrow the Bobbed-Haired Bandit will tell of her first hold-up and what happened thereafter.)

Help Elks Boom Boston

They Will Spend $100,000 to Entertain Convention

Denny B. Goode, of the tourist bureau of the Chamber of Commerce, told the Kiwanis Club that tourists had spent $200,000,000 in New England last year.

He emphasized the fact that advertising the charms of New England to the world would bring visitors in ever-increasing numbers. It is estimated that every tourist will leave $100 within our borders.

The average New Englander is so familiar with the climate, the scenery and the historical romance of the community that he thinks nothing of it. But Mr. Goode sees New England as an alien visitor sees it—a fairyland fit to rival any resort, Summer or Winter, in the world.

All that we have to do, in Mr. Goode's opinion, is to exert a small per cent. of the energy of Florida, California, Colorado, Minnesota, Wisconsin or Canada in making the beauties of New England known and the tourists will flock to us.

The Elks are doing it.

They are out to spend $100,000 to entertain the July nd lodge convention in Boston. Their slogan is at the ding of this article.

"The Elks' convention means fully as much for Boston it does for the Elks," says Chairman Charles E. Osgood. ny big assembly of this sort stimulates every activity of ommunity, besides the advertisement it affords."

An astonishing reply has followed the call for funds.

Jordan Marsh Company leads the list of contributors h $1,000. Wetmore-Savage Company and Mitchell-Wood- y Company are each down for $500. The A. B. See Ele- or Company and Lever Brothers Company have each given 0. In the $200 list are the Highland Laundry, Waldorf tem, Ginter Company and Holzer Cabot Electric Company. J. H. Johnson-Boston Buick Company has given $150, the list for $100 includes L. N. Waterman Company, ples Coal Company, Rice & Hutchins, Inc., Hornblower Weeks, Alles & Fisher, Inc., Batchelder & Snyder, George wley & Son Corporation, Boston Ice Company, Walworth nufacturing Company, Oriental Tea Company, Armstrong nsfer Express, Checker Taxi Company, Copley-Plaza Hotel, oston Mailing Company, the Kennedy Company, the Raymond Syndicate and the American Oil Company of Massachusetts.

Team captains reported that a sharp advance has been made in team quotas aiding in securing the $100,000 necessary to handle the big Elks gathering here the week of July 6.

Why Was Weeks Put in Cabinet?

An unsolved mystery has been the appointment of John W. Weeks of Massachusetts by President Harding to be Secretary of War. If there ever was a man whose war record unfitted him for this particular office, it is Weeks.

Usually a man's neighbors know him pretty well. Read this summary of John W. Weeks' war record by Senator David I. Walsh, of Massachusetts, who says:

He moved three times to take the management of the war out of the hands of President Wilson and vest it in a Committee of Congress, the last time after the President had asked to be spared that "humiliation."

He blocked the shipbuilding plans for two years, while the cry of the nation was for "ships, ships, more ships."

He said on the floor of the United States Senate, "The First Liberty Loan has been a great failure."

He took the floor of the United States Senate 117 times against the government's Armor-Plate Bill, which was recommended by Secretary Daniels and approved by the President, to protect the country against the extortions of the Steel Trust.

He voted to pass over the President's veto the $2.50 wheat bill which President Wilson said would boost the price of flour $2 a barrel and which Herbert Hoover said would take eight million dollars out of the pockets of the people of Massachusetts alone.

He voted to reduce the compensation to be paid to the dependents for the loss of a soldier's life from $10,000 to $7,000.

He voted against the Pomerene Amendment to allow the government to fix the price of coal and to see that it was distributed to the poor as well as to the big buyers.

He voted against the bill to provide two years of free education to the younger men called to service under the draft, although he had four years of free education at Annapolis.

He voted against the bill to increase the tax in the War Revenue Bill on large incomes and war profits.

The characteristic thing in that list is the evidence of Weeks' concern for the Armor-Plate Trust, the Flour Millers' Trust, the Coal Trust and the big corporations that wanted low taxes on profits—AND GOT THEM, thanks to Weeks and his like.

John W. Weeks was not appointed on his war record. Can it be that he was appointed to a Cabinet office to serve in high capacity the corporate interests he had served so well as a legislator?

Various Things

All Short

Queen Mary has taken a great liking for Premier MacDonald's daughter, and father and daughter were the week-end guests of the King and Queen at Windsor Castle. What's the use trying to be a radical?

Surgeons are to open the skull of a dead actor and study his brain because he was able to commit vast quantities of Shakespeare to memory. This is not the big test of brain power. It's more important to write one immortal line than to commit a million immortal lines to memory.

And it's almost as important to be a good forgetter as a good rememberer. It's as important to forget hate and folly as it is to remember thrift and industry. And it's almost as bad to let a mind rust as to cord it up with a mass of junk.

The King of Spain says he didn't want the crown. We agree with him. It's hard to imagine a duller job than such a life-long Punch and Judy performance. He says he would rather be a soldier. We don't agree with him. We can't imagine a worse penitentiary sentence than to be confined in a uniform and lug a lot of hardware in the midst of profound peace.

The blacksmith and the hod carrier and the preacher and the business man have both the King and the Soldier beaten a mile. The King and the Soldier are just animated statuary looming up out of the past, and before long both may go out of business.

A WIFE'S MEDITATIONS

By HELEN ROWLAND

IT isn't so much what a man has to GIVE a girl, as what he is willing to "GIVE UP" for her, that makes him a prize husband.

Just when the doctors have found out the Latin name for what a man is suffering from at this time of the year, he suddenly discovers that its English name is "Love."

Getting a husband to give up information is like getting a child to give up its chewing-gum; he parts with it only a little at a time, and it is finally has to be EXTRACTED from him by main force and threats.

A woman's birthdays are wished upon her—but she has only herself to blame for her wedding anniversaries.

Romance is not actually dead, Diana, until a man's letters have dwindled down from daily avowals to bi-weekly excuses.

Telling a man that he "MUSTN'T love" you is a subtle way of pretending to try to extinguish the divine flame — by throwing gasoline on it.

Lots of marriages are like those long Sunday motor-rides, which start out to be a pleasure trip and end by being an ENDURANCE test, in which the man "drives" harder and harder and the woman holds on by her teeth.

* * *

To a man in love, every "ought-not," "should-not," "shall-not" and must-not," is just a hazard or a bunker to make the game more thrilling.

* * *

After marriage no matter what a woman talks about, from the high price of meat to the theory of Evolution, it is all just "argument" to a husband.

Most love is ninety-nine per cent pure—pure vanity, pure curiosity, or pure imagination.

Greatly In Need

Editor Helping Hand:

Could any of your kind readers help me out as I am greatly in need. My husband is a war vet and was getting vocational training, but has had none since December and has not worked since. I am destitute. I left the hospital a month ago where I had a baby boy but he died. I have a boy of four and a girl of three. I would be glad to get shoes or clothes for them. I wear 38 or 40, shoes 6, and my husband wears 38, shoes 7. I have hospital bills, doctor and grocery to pay. I have never had to ask for help before and am greatly discouraged. D. G. 2.

Thanks for Dress

Editor Helping Hand:

I wish to thank the lady who sent me the dress from West Somerville. She did not send me her name and address so I wish to thank her through your column. I was very grateful to her for it. MRS. C. C.

Who Has a Stroller?

Editor Helping Hand:

Some time ago, at my request, you gave me the address of Mrs. M. B. I have done considerable for her, since she has eight children, the oldest not quite nine. Her seventeen months old baby has been in the hospital with pneumonia and is now convalescing slowly. She would be more than grateful for a stroller for her little sick girl as that is the only way the poor baby can get any air. They live in a damp basement and while her husband seems to be a good man and steady worker, with such a large family they are really poor. Could you try to remember her when someone offers a stroller? I'm sure it would be the means of the little girl getting back to normal. MRS. M. D. M.

Books for Boy

Editor Helping Hand:

Will you please send me the name of the boy in the Long Island Hospital who asked for books. I have a nice pair of high shoes, size 3½ that I would send to anyone who would like them. MRS. W. W. S.

Thank you. You have been sent the address of J. B., the boy in the hospital and also of Walter, who asked for shoes for his mother.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By Aline Michaelis

THERE is fear and agitation as to what we're coming to, for the rising generation has ideas so strange and new! Nothing like it in past ages, so the oldest people say; it would vex the saints and sages could they watch our youth today! For the sub-deb or the flapper or the girl with shingled hair makes her mother long to slap her, drives her grandma to despair. And the boys with Spanish poses and the futuristic socks, grandpa signs to punch their noses and to pull their shining locks! For there's no extenuation, so their sad-eyed elders say, for the rising generation and their escapades today. Where once maidens sat demurely with their sewing by the fire, now they tramp about securely all dressed up in man's attire. Though they still look fair as flowers when at dinners, dances, hops, yet they spend their daylight hours at the polls or barber shops. Now the rising generation never fails to speak its mind, causing untold consternation in the crowd that's left behind. Though from frigid zone to tropic it may be the talk has strayed quite regardless of the topic, they will call a spade a spade. It's a funny situation, though it moves some men to tears, for the rising generation soon must run the world for years. Though it takes its troubles lightly and has little time for sighs, it will likely face life rightly since it walks with open eyes. So, forgetting perturbation, let us greet them with a cheer, for the rising generation soon will show us how to steer.

DR. FRANK CRANE ON THE UNEXPECTED AS A LIFE TEST

THE test of life is the unexpected.

Anybody can get along if things go according to schedule. When something happens that knocks your program into a cocked hat, then we see what manner of soul you are.

This world is governed by law. The rule of averages holds good in the long run. But it is not so dull a place as it seems. Every once in a while something befalls that no one is looking for.

This, too, is a part of the divine plan. The disorder is a part of the order.

Little souls are easily upset. They regard the unusual as a personal grievance. They say, "Why should this happen to me?"

The great soul understands that there are no accidents, that the bolt of the blue sky, the earthquake, the storm, and the devices of the wicked are also a part of the plan.

Because God does things for no reason that I can see is no proof that He does things for no reason at all.

Watch the great soul, therefore. Notice how he adjusts himself to whatever occurs.

He is well ballasted. The blast of the hurricane may strike his ship and tip it upon its beam ends, but it spe lly rights itself.

He laughs when his environment is merry. He weeps at the visitation of sorrow, he enjoys his food and is hurt by a blow, just as an ordinary man; but neither joy nor sorrow, pain nor pleasure, can disturb his deep poise.

The little soul is not so. He is the plaything of circumstance. The gods mistreat him. He talks bitterly about luck.

Richard Le Gallienne said of Robinson Kay Leather these striking words:

"So with his life, the shortness of man's 'term' is never felt; one could win no completer effect with eternity than he with every day. Hurry and false starts seem unknown in his round, and his little home seems a microcosm of the Golden Age. It would sometimes seem that he has an artistic rule even over his 'accident,' for 'surprises' have a wonderful knack of falling into the general plan of his life as though but waited for."

Of all the eulogies I have met in literature there is none that I would be more envious to appropriate than this. But alas! it makes me mad to spill ink on my coat, and when I stub my toe I am at war with the universe.

GARRETT P. SERVISS ON MERCURY TRANSIT

By Garrett P. Serviss

Famous Astronomer and Writer on Scientific Topics of Popular Interest.

THE real astronomer doesn't think he knows it all. There is plenty of room in his field, and he welcomes, and often invites the aid and co-operation of laborers who only occasionally enter it, drawn by its unparalleled attractions. There is just now an instance in the invitation of the United States Naval Observatory to all owners of telescopes to take part in the observations of the transit of the planet Mercury across the sun's disk on May 7.

Amateur astronomical observers who are doing good work, which is valued by professionals, have greatly multiplied in this country since the organization of the Association of Variable Star Observers, not many years ago, and the majority of these will undoubtedly respond to the call for aid from the Naval Observatory.

The transit occurs at a convenient hour of the day—in fact, rather too early, since the sun will set before the transit is finished. It begins about 4:43 p. m. Eastern Standard time and an hour earlier for each standard meridian westward. The whole time of transit will be nearly eight hours, but the end will not be seen in this country. The exact times concerned can be obtained from the Nautical Almanac and from the circular issued by the Naval Observatory, copies of which may be had by writing to the Naval Observatory, Washington.

When on the sun's disk the little planet, whose real diameter is 3,000 miles, will appear as a jet black circular spot, about 1-80th of the apparent diameter of the sun. A telescope magnifying not less than 50 diameters will be needed to study it well. The Naval Observatory says 90 diameters. And it must not be forgotten that no view of th

BE EXPERT IN YOUR LINE, FOR THIS IS AN AGE OF SPECIALISTS

This is the age of the specialist.

The Jack-of-all-trades is no longer sought, and usually he is poorly paid.

If a young man would be valuable to himself he must become an expert in one direction and not spend too much time in a variety of unrelated subjects.

It requires all the time and study and thought and experience a man can get to gain enough knowledge in one subject to make a success.

Enter one line and stick to it.

In a small city of twenty-five thousand in Ohio there is one man who for fifteen years has been engaged as caretaker of the main street. Twice he has been transferred to other department and younger men were put on his job, but they did not keep the job for long.

The older man is back on his job on Main street, and it is a big job to him, keeping it up as it should be; and he can have that job as long as he is able to work.

He has made a specialty of keeping his section in good condition and can do it better than any who have been tried out.

He is a specialist in his line.
